POST-SCRIPTS

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

"Good people all, of every sort,
Give ear unto my song,
And if you find it wondrous short,
It can not hold you long."

Some day the Official Spokesman is going to embarrass the President and get fired.

Some days just lots of things are new.

While other days the news is few;
Some days we have to pick and choose,
The best things from the grist of news;

Some days the White House scribes will write,
A tale that thrills us with delight,
But even as they sit and spin it,
We know there's really nothing in it.

The king with twenty thousand men,
Marched up, and then marched down again,
In which respect he sometimes sorter
Reminds us of the bad reporter,
Who weaves a tale when news is slack—

The next day takes the whole thing back.

Mr. Hoover can console himself with the reflection that most of the greatest men in this country never became Secretary of State.

We judge by the advance notices that the Queen of the Shenandoah apple show is a pippin.

Incidentally, the State Department has been a poor stepping-stone to the White House, for while Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, J. Q. Adams, Van Buren and Buchanan made it, those who didn't include Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Crittenden, Everett, Marcy, Cass, Seward, Everts, Blaine, Sherman, Hay, Root, Knox, Bryan and Hughes.

The truth of the matter is that the Washington correspondents have probably never spun so much cloth from so little wool as the yarn which the President combed to pieces yesterday.

It should be remarked that this terrible chastisement does not refer to the special dispatches under a Washington dateline.

One of the boldest robberies perpetrated in Washington in many years is reported from the baseball park, but we don't see that Maj. Hesse can do anything about it.

By the time that the Snyder jury is filled,
And the typewriter's noisy click is stilled,
We fear that the Hudson will be frozen,
"For many are called but few are chosen."

The Supreme Court gets a new quid to chew on.

A cousin of the Vice President finds herself, so to speak, "waiting at the church."

"I can't marry you today—
My wife won't let me."

We can not believe that the D. A. R. is a "cross section of American life" as these annual meetings in recent years have been happily characterized by better temper than formerly.

Of his many inventions man has never thought up anything that so combines simplicity with usefulness like a cyclone collar. The terrorized people caught at the Henry house between the opposing lines at Bull Run found shelter under the turnpike bridge until the battle was over, but where may one hide from a tornado if he hasn't by forethought provided himself with a hole in the ground? Another frightful storm takes an appalling toll of life in Illinois, while still another is on the rampage in Oklahoma.

The White House expects that peace will now soon prevail in Nicaragua and the cabinet.

While waiting for Miss Mae West to get out of jail New York will have to try to worry along on the Snyder murder trial.

"The District government should be entirely separated from the Federal government," says Commissioner Dougherty, who seems to be as entirely separated from clause 17 of Section VIII of the Constitution as Mr. Begg is.

For the first time sound and image are transmitted simultaneously on a single wave length, and thus we obtain the full meaning of Hamlet's words when he said, "Suit the action to the word, the word to the action."

"Hollywood, not to lose the spotlight, comes across with a killing in which another unlucky husband stood in the way of love and romance."

The meteorologists know the difference between a line squall and a tornado, but the fellow who gets in the way of one doesn't.

5,000 D.A.R. THROG NATIONAL MUSEUM AT BIG RECEPTION

Mrs. Brosseau Entertains Delegates Attending Convention.

PILGRIMAGE IS MADE TO MT. VERNON SHRINE

$453,041 in Cash and Million Dollars in Bonds Reported in Hand for New Hall.

Forsaking for the time being the cares of legislation, the upbuilding of national defense and constructive patriotic movements, the delegates to the thirty-sixth continental congress, D. A. R., meeting in the new auditorium this week, put on their best gowns and attended en masse the reception at the New National Museum last night given in their honor by Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, president general, and members of the national board of management.

In the receiving line in the foyer of the museum building with Mrs. Brosseau were the four honorary presidents general, Mrs. William Cummins Story of New York; Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey of Kansas; Mrs. George Maynard Minor of Connecticut; and Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook of Pennsylvania, and the honorary vice presidents general, as well as the national officers of the society.

More than 5,000 members of the D. A. R. were received in the course of the evening. Mrs. G. Wallace W. Hanger, acting chairman of the reception committee, and her associates on the committee had made the arrangements for the reception and the function went forward smoothly.

Handsome Gowns in Evidence.

Many handsome gowns were noted in the groups, and all together it was a cross-section of American life pictured in these representative women from every State and many foreign lands enjoying the big social event of their annual congress. Noted in the line as it passed the receiving party were many veterans of D. A. R. endeavors, many of them wearing orders and medals showing distinguished descent from revolutionary patriots.

After they had gone down the line, many of the delegates strolled around the halls of the museum and inspected the exhibits. Particular interest was exhibited in the collection of costumes of ladies of the White House, gathered together by the late Mrs. Julian James, of Washington, assisted by Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, great-granddaughter of President and Mrs. James Monroe.

Beautiful Gowns Shown.

Mrs. Brosseau wore a gown of deep flesh-colored chiffon, made on straight lines, but with handsome embroidered effect and fringe of cut steel and jet and rhinestones. She carried a huge bouquet of roses.

Mrs. Matthew T. Brewster, chaplain general, wore a gown of silver tulle over metal cloth, heavily embroidered in cut steel beads.

Mrs. Samuel Williams Earle, recording secretary general, was in a gown of white and silver broadcloth, embroidered in silver and rhinestones. She wore pearl ornaments.

Mrs. Lowell P. Hobart, organizing secretary general, wore a gown of silver broadcloth trimmed with motifs of rhinestones and embroidery.

Mrs. Herbert M. Lord, corresponding secretary general, had on a gown of black velvet made on draped lines, with a square neckline in the front and a (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 2, COLUMN 5.)

Thieves Fly Off With Doctor's Airplane

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 19.—Clarksburg's queerest theft case was reported today when the airplane of Dr. R. L. Jackson, veterinarian, was stolen from its hangar at the flying field at Oakmount, south of the city.

Dr. Jackson did not know the machine had been stolen until newspaper men at Uniontown, Pa., notified him that it had crashed down near that city. He took steps at once to recover the plane and find the thieves.

Single Radio Wave Length Carries Image and Sound

Achievement, Which Eliminates One Wire If Phone System Is Used, Spells New Chapter in Progress of Television.

New York, April 19 (By A. P.).—Transmission of sound and image on a single wave length, a new chapter in the history of television, was announced today by the Bell telephone laboratories.

In experiments, images were transmitted, simultaneously with speech, from station 3XN, at Whippany, N. J., to New York. The experiment was pronounced a success by Dr. Herbert E. Ives and E. L. Nelson, who directed it.

The first public demonstration of television was made April 7, when speech and images were brought by wire from Washington and by radio from Whippany to New York. The speech and images from Washington were carried on separate wires. Those from Whippany were brought on separate wave lengths.

Today, both speech and image were carried on single wave lengths, by radio. It was said that transmission over a single wire also is feasible.

Transmission was by a single radio set of a band of frequencies equal to that of several telephone conversations, without distortion or cross-modulation of the various frequencies within the band. A band of 20,000 cycles was used for forming the images and one of 5,000 cycles for speech. Both bands were carried on a wave length of 191 meters, the same wave length used in the demonstration April 7. Two receiving sets, one equipped with a triple detection and special filtering arrangements, received the impulses without distortion.

In the demonstration April 7, besides the separate wave lengths for speech and image, a third wave length was used to synchronize the apparatus transmitting and receiving the images. Such a synchronizing wave length was used in the last experiment.

It was said that transmission by a single wave length simplified transmission. In the case of transmission by wire elimination of an extra wire would considerably reduce the cost.

RAYMOND, ACTOR, BEATEN DIES; PAUL KELLY HELD

Prisoner Admits Forcing Fight After Admitting Love for Other Man's Wife

WOMAN IS MISS MACKAYE

Hollywood, Calif., April 19 (By A. P.).—Paul Kelly, stage and film actor, held for investigation following the death this morning of Ray Raymond, musical comedy actor, today told newspaper reporters that he and Raymond had engaged in a fist fight after Kelly had admitted that he was in love with Raymond's wife, Dorothy Mackaye, film actress.

Raymond returned to his home last Friday morning on a tour with the musical comedy company of "Castles in the Air."

Miss Mackaye was reported in a state of nervous collapse and under the care of a physician.

Kelly denied that he had administered a brutal beating which police believe caused the death of Raymond. He said he had "merely punched him several times" but that he had not kicked the actor, and "was very much surprised that he died." The fist fight, Kelly said, was witnessed only by Raymond's 4-year-old son and Miss Mackaye's negro maid.

Chief of Detectives Herman Cline said Raymond's body was covered with bruises and that he had been informed Raymond had been severely beaten while lying unconscious on the floor during the fight.

Questioned by the police, Kelly admitted that Raymond was a smaller man than he and that Raymond told him he was tired and did not want to fight.

"I told him that he wasn't tired but just yellow clear through and that he was taking that means of avoiding the thrashing I intended giving him," Kelly declared.

Miss Mackaye also told the officers that her friendship for Kelly was re-

Ford Making Movie Of Mary and Lamb

Sterling, Mass., April 19 (By A. P.).—Agents acting under instructions of Henry Ford, automobile magnate, are in Sterling taking motion pictures of the "Mary and Her Little Lamb" scenes on Redstone hill.

Joy Black, 12-year-old daughter of the business manager of the Dearborn Independent, acts the part of Mary.

Flier Killed as Plane Catches on Parachute

San Antonio, Tex., April 19 (By A. P.).—His leap to safety checked when his parachute caught in the tail of his plane, Lieut. E. D. Roney, Jr., of Beaufort, S. C., student pilot, was pulled down to death when the ship in which he rode alone crashed in a cotton patch 3 miles south of Kelly field, near here today.

Miss Sergeant and Bilderback, an automobile salesman associated with his father here, were married at the courthouse at Urbana. Young Bilderback is a graduate of Yale, and Miss Daves was graduated from Wellesley, Miss Sergeant, a graduate of the University of Michigan, took a master's degree at the University of Illinois.

In Chicago the Daves family expressed surprise when informed that young Bilderback had been married. They had never heard of Miss Sergeant.

Resigned President Of Greece To Carry On

Athens, Greece, April 19 (By A. P.).—Admiral Kondouriotis presented his resignation as president of Greece yesterday, but agreed to carry on provisionally when requested to do so by Premier Kondylis. The premier pointed out that a serious situation would be created if he insisted on resigning at present.

The president's action is attributed to the state of his health, although it is known he has been discouraged over the delay of the coalition cabinet in settling vital questions and also over the fact that parliament failed to complete revision of a constitutional charter.

EXAMINATION OF 87 RESULTS IN SINGLE SNYDER CASE JUROR

Woman Smiles Faintly as Press Agent Is Chosen to Judge Her.

LONG HUNT FOR JURY SEEN IN CHALLENGES

Court Continued Past Usual Hour in Vain Effort to Make Headway.

New York, April 19 (By A. P.).—At the close of the second day of the examination of talesmen to try Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray for the murder of Albert Snyder only one juror had been selected. Since the trial opened Monday more than four score prospective jurors have been examined.

Of 37 prospective jurors examined today, only one, William E. Young, press agent for a Broadway hotel, proved satisfactory to the district attorney and attorneys for the defendants. Young automatically became foreman.

He was first announced as acceptable by the State, then by counsel for Henry Judd Gray and last, after long conference, by Mrs. Ruth Snyder's lawyer.

Young is of middle age and of stolid expression. He answered all questions in a voice scarcely audible. Both Gray and Mrs. Snyder watched him closely. When his acceptance was announced, Gray made no sign, but the woman smiled faintly.

Long Jury Search Seen.

On the first day of the trial 50 men of the panel filed in and out of the jury box without one being permitted to remain. Today, in an effort to add another juror to the foreman, Justice Townsend Scudder continued the court session long past the usual hour for adjournment, but in vain.

That the search for a jury will be a long one was indicated by the ability of attorneys for the defendants to practice economy with their peremptory challenges. Eighty-seven men have been called to the bar in two days and only fifteen defense challenges have been used, nine by Mrs. Snyder and six by Gray. The district attorney has challenged four peremptorily.

Acquaintances of Counsel Excused.

They even were told to stand aside today "for cause" when they told the court they had conscientious scruples against inflicting of the death penalty.

Three men acquainted with counsel were excused. Ten revealed opinions so fixed and definite that evidence would be required to change them. One was excused by consent and the presiding judge excused another.

The defendants remained composed throughout the long court day. Still sitting ten feet apart with the back of Gray's head in front of his former lover, there was no exchange of glances.

Several times Mrs. Snyder consulted with one of the lawyers and once William J. Millard, of Gray's counsel, signaled the defendant to lean forward for a conference as a juror was being examined. A whispered conversation continued for a minute or more.

"Peaches" Arrested For Scolding Officer

Chicago, April 19 (By A. P.).—Frances ("Peaches") Browning, who recently lost a husband and a lawsuit, today lost an argument. A traffic officer arrested Al Mann, son of Fred Mann, at whose cabaret "Peaches" is dancing, for scolding the officer.

She argued so vigorously that the officer also arrested her on a charge of disorderly conduct. She furnished $500 bond.

Cottage Drinking Bout Followed by Slaying

Cleveland, April 19 (By A. P.).—A drinking bout with the owner of a little cottage east of Chagrin Falls, near here, with whom he had become acquainted by chance, led to the slaying of John C. Compton, Jr., 31 years old, Sunday night, police said today after they had arrested and obtained a confession from the wife of the cottage owner.

Compton's body was found in the kitchen of the cottage, bruised and crushed. Police arrested the cottage owner's wife, who told them the story. The husband could not be found.

High School, Scene Of Strike, Is Burned

Almont, Mich., April 19 (By A. P.).—The Almont high school, scene of a student strike last week which arose over dismissal of the Almont school board superintendent, was burned last night. Donald Burley, fireman, said he found indications of incendiaryism.

A can of kerosene was found near the building. The fire, which caused a loss estimated at more than $100,000, revived the factional differences which were in evidence since E. R. Bristol, former superintendent, refused to bar from the school a girl discharged from the Girls' Training school at Adrian, Mich.

ROCKVILLE AUTOPSY SHOWS KOPPER MET DEATH BY DROWNING

Declaration of Suicide Is Withdrawn Upon Friends' Request.

NO VIOLENCE MARKS ARE FOUND ON BODY

Burial Will Be Tomorrow in Arlington Cemetery With Military Honors.

Capt. Frederick Kopper, Jr., whose body was found in the water at Great Falls, Md., yesterday afternoon, came to his death by drowning, an autopsy last night revealed.

The physicians who performed the autopsy started to make the verdict read "drowning by suicide." But when friends of Kopper insisted that he could not have committed suicide, the physicians made the certificate read "drowning by accident." After the word "accident," they placed a question mark.

The physicians explained that the reason they placed a question mark after "accident" was that they were not sure about the "accident." The only thing they were sure about, they said, was that Kopper was alive when he struck the water.

Insignificant Bruises Found.

The physicians examined every part of Kopper's body and found no marks of violence. A few bruises were found, but there were regarded as not significant.

The autopsy was performed in Pumphrey's undertaking establishment in Rockville, Md., and the physicians were Dr. Benjamin Perry, acting coroner of Montgomery county; Dr. W. R. Pumphrey, Jr., and Dr. George E. Lewis.

The decision to abandon a suicide verdict was reached after Capt. Walter Bruce Howe, attorney for the Kopper family, had recited the history of the case, and after William F. Franklin and other friends of Kopper had told what they knew about him. They all said that there was no possible motive for Kopper's having taken his life.

Connoisseur in Revolvers.

If he had wanted to commit suicide, they said, the chances were that he would have shot himself. He was a connoisseur in revolvers and had a large collection of such weapons at his home.

It was the consensus of opinion among Kopper's friends that he fell into the water when he went to wash his face and hands.

Capt. Kopper will be buried in Arlington National cemetery with full military honors tomorrow morning. A band and a firing squad from the Costello post of the American Legion will participate in the services. The (CONTINUED ON PAGE 3, COLUMN 4.)

4, Trapped in Flaming Plane, Burn to Death

East Church, Kent, Eng., April 19 (By A. P.).—Four members of the royal air force, two of them officers, were killed today when a Vickers bomber crashed here.

This plane, in rising hit the wing of another plane and went into a nose dive. It turned over as it struck the ground and the gasoline tank exploded, the resulting fire burning the four occupants to death.

2 Accused of Killing Mayor With Knife

Warsaw, April 19 (By A. P.).—Two men, accused of the murder of Mayor Cynarski of Lodz, on April 14, were arrested today.

The police said investigation of the crime showed the mayor was stabbed to death with a kitchen knife by a workman, discharged by the mayor, and a friend. Doubt exists as to whether the motive was vengeance or whether the men were interrupted while attempting to rob the mayor's house.

Tired of Small Town, Woman Kills Self

East Orange, N. J., April 19 (By A. P.).—"To avoid the routine of a small town," Mrs. Margaret E. Grant, of Blackwood, today committed suicide at the home of her son, William F. Grant, here.

Her daughter-in-law found her dead with a revolver nearby.

White House Is Hopeful Of Peace in Nicaragua

(By The Associated Press.)

Hope of the administration for early withdrawal of at least a portion of the American marines on duty in Nicaragua was expressed yesterday at the White House.

It was said, however, that pacification of the war-torn republic remains the only basis on which withdrawal could be effected, and President Coolidge has reached no decision as to just when the troop movement can begin. On the basis of recent victories by President Diaz's conservative army over the Sacasa liberals and on private advice, Mr. Coolidge nevertheless is optimistic that the civil war is approaching an end.

Tearing a straight line through six central Illinois counties, a series of line squalls this afternoon brought death to eighteen persons, injury to many more, and left scores in a dozen communities homeless.

Uncertainty colored all reports and gave rise to belief that further reports may send the fatality and injury figures higher, or eliminate some names from the list of dead. AID FOR 25,000 IS ASKED

Memphis, Tenn., April 19 (By A. P.).

Valiant but now defenseless communities in the Mississippi valley north of here and in Arkansas, to the west, today saw another of their bulwarks crumble and many additional square miles of bottom lands laid open to the flood.

The St. John's Bayou levee, 8 miles north of New Madrid, Mo., followed the Medley levee in succumbing to the eddies of the current and tonight the yellow waters swept onward down an area 100 miles long and many miles wide to Helena, Ark., adding hundreds of persons to the long list of homeless.

Southeast Missouri, already prostrate before the flood, faced additional loss, as did unhappy Arkansas, whose three major streams, the Arkansas, White and St. Francis rivers, already have broken out of bounds in a number of places, putting much of its farm land under water.

More than 75 towns and villages in the two States were in the threatened section, while it was estimated that 3,000,000 acres of land were in danger.

In addition to the wholesale destruction of crops in sections of Kentucky, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, the flood disrupted railroads, highway and telegraph traffic, made thousands of farmers homeless and placed before merchants and bankers of the territory the prospect of an autumn without crop revenues.

The Mississippi river levee at New Madrid was holding and little fear was felt that it would not be able to contain the 46-foot stage forecast.

Gov. Martin, of Arkansas, today called for a proclamation calling the flood the "greatest in a century," and appealing to citizens of the State to re-

D. A. R. DELEGATIONS HOOR GUESTS AT STATE LUNCHEONS

Incoming and Outgoing Officers Combine Pleasure With Business at Conclaves.

CANDIDATES' FORTUNES DISCUSSED AT MEETINGS

Duties of Individual Bodies Taken Up in Executive Sessions Through Day.

In recent years the meetings of delegations at the congresses of the Daughters of the American Revolution have taken on a social aspect in direct contrast to those of the past years, when the State officers were elected in Washington during the congresses. Now the incoming officers and the outgoing officers join hands to make the State meetings outstanding ones of pleasure and profit.

This year the annual pilgrimage to Mount Vernon scheduled for the first of the month, resulted in most of the States following the habit of the larger delegations of combining luncheon and the State meetings or holding dinner meetings.

At these meetings, the national officers and former national officers and chairmen of national committees were special guests of honor. Those delegations which have in their State membership a president general or former president general always are of special interest.

Some of the delegations invited favorite sons as well as daughters to be present and make addresses, although many of them went into executive session during the period when the State business was in order or discussions were carried on regarding the State individual.

The States having candidates for vice president general or for honorary vice president general, the only officers to be elected during this week, Mrs. James M. Willey is State regent of the District.

The Sequenconial International exposition was the chief topic of discussion at the Pennsylvania State meeting and luncheon for the Washington house of the D. A. R. on High street in 1776 brought the women in contact with women of many other States and gave them much to report at the congress.

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president general; Mrs. John Brown Heron, vice president general; Mrs. Adam Wynne, treasurer general; Mrs. E. M. Patton, honorary State regent and chairman of the D. A. R. Sequenconial committee were special guests. Mrs. Howard Brown, State regent, presided.

Contributors $36,224.29. Pennsylvania has contributed during the past year to D. A. R. work $36,224.29. Plans for a membership drive to increase the membership to 12,000 before the close of administration of the present State officers were discussed.

Mrs. Herbert Beckus, State regent of Ohio, presided at the Ohio luncheon and State meeting at the Powhatan.

Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, continuing secretary general and former State regent, was one of the guests of honor at this meeting and made a short address on the work of her office. Ohio has done very important work along historical lines in copying early marriage records and records of old wills, and 21 chapters are engaged in writing histories of old families in their counties.

The name of Mrs. James F. Donahue, of Western Reserve chapter, of Cleveland, was announced.

land, will be placed on the chair in Constitution hall as a result of the strenuous campaign, she has directed for subscriptions to the D. A. R. magazine, which has won Ohio first place in the magazine contest.

Mrs. Hobart was thanked for her suggestion and help in securing approval of the Ohio legislature finance committee for the appropriation of $5,500 for an Ohio bell at Valley Forge, as a permanent memorial from Ohio for the sequenconial. Another important legislative work being done by the Ohio Daughters is for a bill for the restoration and preservation of Camp Martius house, at Marietta, the oldest building in Ohio.

Representatives of 105 chapters of Massachusetts met for luncheon yesterday with the State regent, Mrs. James Charles Peabody, as the presiding officer. The State of Massachusetts, while it takes a vital and active interest in all the work of the D. A. R., stresses its work along Americanization, patriotic education and marking and preserving historic spots. It was discussed from the speeches and reports at the meeting. All of the chapters in the State carry on extensive Americanization work. The Massachusetts delegation held its meeting Sunday at the Washington.

Two real daughters are still living in Massachusetts, and their names were mentioned many times at the meeting. They are Mrs. Adelle Hatch and Mrs. Mary Scott, both members of the Deborah Sampson chapter. Ninety-seven real granddaughters of the revolution are also registered by the chapters in Massachusetts.

Maryland Celebrates. The Maryland State meeting was held in the national officers' room of Memorial Continental hall following a luncheon at the State regent's home. Maryland celebrated its 100th year of statehood with appropriate exercises. Many of the members of the Maryland delegation are also workers in the District. D. A. R. and in local club work here. Mrs. Daniel Mereshon Garrison, State regent, presided. Mrs. W. A. H. was present at the reception given on Independence day at the American Legion, given by the D. A. R. of the United States. The State regent assisted Mrs. El Helms, register general, who held the graduation ceremony, when a sword was presented by the national society to the midshipman at the United States Naval Academy, of the graduating class who excelled in practical seamanship. The presentation was made at a dress dinner at the State regent's home. Mrs. James Reese Schick, the State regent, presided. The State regent, Mrs. James Reese Schick, the State regent, presided.

Patriotic clubs have been organized in the public schools of Baltimore by the Baltimore chapters. Many well-known Washington women are members of the Virginia delegation, and attended the State meeting yesterday at the Roosevelt hotel. Mrs. James Reese Schick, the State regent, presided. The State regent, Mrs. James Reese Schick, the State regent, presided.

In memory of the late Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, State regent of Virginia, the Virginia delegation of the D. A. R. has placed a firebrick dated 1734 found at the ruins of historic "Hayfield" the home of Lun Washington, in the Virginia room in Memorial Continental hall. A similar firebrick is now in the library at Mount Vernon, and is supposed to have been placed there in 1789.

The Virginia daughters expressed their appreciation to the Sarah Franklin chapter of the District of Columbia in presenting a radio set to the Blue Ridge Industrial school at Dyke, Va., and the scholarship the chapter maintained there. The Virginia chapter of the District, has given $200 this year to this school.

Included in the work which the Virginia daughters have completed is the restoration and safeguarding of the first customs house in America located at Yorktown by the Courte de Grasse Academy, of the Thomas Nelson Ohio scholarship of $5,000 and the Woodrow Wilson scholarship of $1,000. Twenty

The location of the grave of Nancy Hanks, mother of Abraham Lincoln, in Mineral county, has created unusual interest and was a cause of congratulation in the D. A. R. circles. A Y. M. C. A. association, it was announced, is being formed to raise the necessary funds to provide a suitable marker.

The meeting was held in the West Virginia room. Miss Annie Wallace, a former State regent and vice president general from New Hampshire, was among those present at the New Hampshire State meeting. Dr. Alice M. Chesley, State regent, presided.

Mrs. George Morley Young, vice president general, was one of the guests at the meeting of the North Dakota State delegation. Mrs. Morley is also honorary State regent. Mrs. Samuel L. Glaspeil presided.

One chapter has been taken in Constitution hall by Kakakawa chapter in honor of Mrs. George Morley Young. The Alabama State delegation met in the Alabama room and the regent, Mrs. James R. Lane, addressed the delegates. Mrs. Lane, who is serving her third term as State regent, presided.

The District government should be entirely separated from the Federal government, Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty told the Civitan club at its luncheon yesterday at the Lafayette hotel. The Federal government has been of considerable assistance to the State regent, he said, but nevertheless the State should now be allowed to go along on its own.

He urged that local citizens get behind the State regent, he said, and make an appropriate memorial to the District heroes who lost their lives in the world war.

C. A. R. HEAD REGES FOR FOREIGN BORN

President of Society Makes Opening Address at 32d Annual Convention.

KINDERGARTEN WORK AT ELLIS ISLAND DESCRIBED

Daughter of Organization's Founder Speaks; D. A. R. President Gives Greetings.

The children of the nation must set a patriotic example to the foreign-born children, Mrs. Joseph Van Orsdel, president of the National Society Children of the American Revolution, said in his address at the opening of the thirty-second annual convention at the Red Cross building yesterday morning.

"As members of the society you are not only growing into better citizens yourselves," she said, "but you are helping to guide the youth of foreign birth to like aims and thus you are keeping faith with your ancestors and with those who have protected its honor and integrity through all the past years."

"The work we are doing in the kindergarten at Ellis Island is not only exceedingly interesting to us but is of great value to our country. It is so difficult to estimate how many little foreign children become fine American citizens because of the impressions and the teachings which they receive at this kindergarten."

Mrs. Van Orsdel told of the services the Children of the American Revolution rendered to the nation during the war to save "Old Ironsides," the U. S. S. Constitution, as an example of loyalty and bravery of our navy from the beginning of the war.

Miss Margaret Bethrop, daughter of the late Mrs. Daniel Lothrop, founder of the national society, Children of the American Revolution, received an ovation when she went to the platform to speak. Miss Lothrop expressed her pleasure in seeing her daughter at the convention and recalled that her mother had performed this function every year until her death.

"We must devote our minds, our hearts and our hands to helping to develop the right kind of life in this country," she said. "We must develop the right kind of life in this country, and especially in our relationship to those who do not have all the advantages we have."

Greetings were given by the president general of the D. A. R., Mrs. Alfred Brouseau; the State regent of the District of Columbia, Mrs. James M. Willey; Kenneth S. Wales, president of the Sons of the American Revolution; and Mrs. William Henry Wait, honorary vice president general, all of whom were present.

Music was furnished by the United States Marine band and the Gov. Thomas Wells chapter of the District of Columbia, led in a recitation of the "American Legion." Edward Miller Smith, of Baltimore, entertained with whistling and singing. Mrs. William Henry Wait, of the National Ruxton society, of Baltimore, presided.

Luncheon at New Willard. Mrs. Samuel Jackson Kramer, State regent of New York, presided at the luncheon and meeting held in the New Willard hotel yesterday. Mrs. Kramer, who is serving her third term as State regent, presided.

The State regent reported that 161 chapters are represented at the congress in the public schools of Baltimore by the Baltimore chapters. Many well-known Washington women are members of the Virginia delegation, and attended the State meeting yesterday at the Roosevelt hotel.

UNSLIGHTLY BUILDINGS MAR PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE, BEGG SAYS

Lower Portion of Thoroughfare Disgrace, Representative Tells Commerce Chamber.

DECLARES INDUSTRIES WOULD AID CONDITIONS

Advocates Dual Government Form With Establishment of Clearing House.

The appearance of lower Pennsylvania avenue is a disgrace to the National Capital and conditions there will not be allowed to continue for many more years, Representative James T. Begg, of Ohio, declared in an address before the Washington Chamber of Commerce at the Willard hotel last night.

Stressing the surprise of visitors when they see the unsightly buildings and small shops within the shadow of the Capitol, Representative Begg declared that Pennsylvania avenue should be remade. No expense should be spared to alter the present appearance of the avenue, he said.

Development of manufacturing industries in this city is necessary for the proper development of the District, said Representative Begg. The city would be much better off, he said, if a greater diversity of activities were provided.

Declaring that he was "not afraid of smokestacks," Representative Begg, however, said that he believed that manufacturing plant should be constructed where it would mar the beauty of the residential section.

Pointing out that the interests of the District are so closely allied with the interests of the nation, Representative Begg said that he believed a dual form of government should be established here.

He said:

"It is not good for Congress to run the government of the District, neither would it be good for Washington to run its own government. I believe the happy medium would be a dual government."

Establishment of a central clearing house through which all civic associations could voice their opinions was advocated by Representative Begg. Until such a body is organized, he said, the civic organizations will not reach their full power.

Representative Begg said he hoped that within the next few years he would see the center of education moved from New England to this city. He urged members of the chamber to work to make Washington the greatest educational center in the world.

Col. R. E. B. McKenney, U. S. A., urged members of the chamber to employ a youth who has been trained in the C. M. T. C. in preference to a youth who has had no such training. He said that the military training received in the camps teaches a young man how to shoulder responsibility.

William G. Caldwell, mayor of Colonial Beach, Va., declared that too much attention was being given in the public schools today to the development of playgrounds, dramatics and athletics. Night clubs and roadhouses are causing the downfall of the youth of today, he said.

Federal Employees Hear Labor Chief

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, addressed the members of Federal Employees Union, 105, last night in the Franklin Square hotel at their annual banquet, dance and installation of officers.

Toastmistress Gertrude M. McNally, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Federal Employees, Belle A. Trowland, president of local 105, and Mr. Steward were presented with tokens of esteem by members of the numbering division of the bureau of engraving.

Treasury Woman Outspells 38, Wins $125 Scholarship

Having Read The Post Five Times, Mrs. Annie H. Smith Bests All at Bee Held by Eastern Star Chapter. Other Prizes Awarded—"Facetious" Last Word.

After perusing The Washington Post five times last Sunday, Mrs. Annie H. Smith, an employee of the registrar of the Treasury's office, spelled down 38 other members of the Order of the Eastern Star last night and was awarded first prize in the spelling bee held under the auspices of the Gavel chapter, No. 29. The prize was a scholarship at Strayer's Business college, valued at $125.

The words used in the spelling bee were taken from the columns of last Sunday's Post.

Mrs. Smith, who lives at the Government hotel, achieved victory by spelling "facetious." Four other contestants misspelled it and she was awarded first place. Mrs. Smith is a member of Washington Centennial chapter.

Miss Mina Wagner, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a visitor at the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. S. Norwood, 1300 Massachusetts avenue northwest, won the second prize of a scholarship at the same school valued at $100. The Norwoods were serious contenders for the prize themselves, lasting until nearly the end. The daughter won fifth prize, a box of Polly Trent candy.

Third prize, a year's subscription to The Washington Post, was won by Miss Lillian Banham, 1310 Kedron street, northeast. Miss Banham was delighted with her prize and declared that she could now read her favorite section without having to defer to her family.

Fourth prize was won by Mrs. Edith E. Ford, of Brentwood, Md., a member of Meantime chapter. She was awarded a box of Polly Trent candies.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Robert Haycock propounded the words. He started on the first page of Sunday's Post in the story on China.

The first contestant to go down failed because of extreme nervousness. She was Mrs. Burnside, of Brookland chapter. She missed "pigeon." Mrs. Burnside went down on the first round. Mrs. Mary C. Wayson, of Trinity chapter, also failed on the first round. Her failure to spell "manufacturer" also can be attributed to nervousness.

Twenty-four rounds were made before first place was won. Mr. Haycock thought to expedite matters and turned to the advertising section of The Post. His effort was a failure. Even the men apparently had read the advertisements. Where else could they learn to spell "georgette" and other words of feminine interest.

"Facetious" and "guerrilla" proved to be the downfall of the most. Each was missed four times.

"You people have been reading the advertisements too well," Mr. Haycock said and turned to the news section again. Finally he had to take recourse to a small handbook he had brought with him.

The judges were Charles H. Miller, Mrs. Lillie McKenney and Mrs. Augusta Thompson, Grand Patron J. Ernest Dulin acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Lena Stephenson, grand matron, presented the prizes.

A program of musical numbers and recitations preceded the spelling bee. Mrs. Sara Linquist and Miss Margaret Hess, both students at the Marjorie Webster School of Expression, recited. Their recitations called forth much applause. Dick Rambo was forced to play his musical saw over and over again.

He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. P. J. Osthaus. Tiny Miss Margaret Levy delighted the gathering with her dancing and songs.

New York School Girls Visit Capital

The dreams of nine girls, students of Seward Park High school, New York city, were realized last night when they arrived in this city. The trip was a reward of scholarship and all expenses were cared for by Emmanuel Goldman, of New York, and Louis Myers, of Hoboken, N. J., graduates of the school. Today the students plan to lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Miss Lena M. Freiman, a teacher, is in charge of the group, which includes the Misses Sylvia Katz, Sadie Miller, Pauline Halpern, Bessie Zacher, Elizabeth Levine, Beatrice Kreindler, Miriam Blecher, Minnie Tropianka and Sarah Harowitz. Before coming here they visited Philadelphia.

Stranded Woman Asks Search for Husband. Stranded with her three small children at Union Station, Mrs. Charles E. Stephan, 30 years old, appealed to District police to search for her husband who failed to meet her when the train on which she came from Florida arrived here last night.

Mrs. Stephan told police that her husband was driving to this city in an automobile with their two small sons. She feared that he might have met with an accident en route to this city. Last night Mrs. Stephan was cared for by the Travelers Aid Society. Police were searching the hospital. Early this morning to learn if Mr. Stephan had been injured in this city.

Grant Denies Wilson Dictated Armistice

The armistice which ended the world war was not dictated by President Wilson, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d told the Columbia Historical society meeting in the Cosmos club last night.

The armistice, Col. Grant said, was not agreed to on the basis of the fourteen points enunciated by President Wilson. He said that the armistice was a treaty of peace on that basis. Allen C. Clark, president of the society, presided.

Summons Ambulance, Then Swoons From Gas

After summoning an ambulance from Emergency hospital by telephone, Isadore Manheim, 50 years old, of 1513 Twentieth street northwest, last night reeled and fell unconscious in his home, overcome by gas.

Manheim was revived by physicians from the Emergency hospital. Police discovered the gas coming from a leaking gas jet.

military services will be followed by Masonic services.

The body was found yesterday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock about 80 feet from the spot where Kopper's jacket and the overcoat were found April 9, four days after his disappearance.

It was about 1:15 o'clock when Sullivan saw something bobbing in the water. He called a friend, got into a rowboat and went out to investigate. They found the body, hauled it into the shore and then notified the authorities of Montgomery county.

Body Taken to Rockville. Dr. Perry, acting coroner of the county, arrived about an hour later and ordered the body taken to Pumphreys undertaking establishment in Rockville.

The body was identified as that of Capt. Kopper by cards found in a wallet in a trouser's pocket. These cards showed that he was a member of the Costello post of the American Legion, the Benevolent lodge of Masons, the Society of Automotive Engineers and Travelers club.

The wallet contained four $1 bills and 70 cents in change. In the pockets also were found a ring of keys and a check book.

A crowd of 100 or more persons flocked to Great Falls where the body was found. The crowd was kept back by a line of police. Among those who arrived early were Mr. Franklin, legislator and friend of Capt. Kopper; Mr. Howe and Charles H. Bradley, attorneys for the Kopper estate; and Miss Carolyn Capen, niece of Capt. Kopper.

Girl Bursts Into Tears. Miss Capen, who was a favorite of Capt. Kopper, burst into tears when she arrived in this city. The trip was a reward of scholarship and all expenses were cared for by Emmanuel Goldman, of New York, and Louis Myers, of Hoboken, N. J., graduates of the school. Today the students plan to lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

PRESIDENT'S PRAISE FOR HOOVER CLEARS CLASH CABINET

Commerce Secretary Wins Tribute From Spokesman at White House.

DISAVOWS ANY SLIGHT IN EARLIER COMMENT

Sweeping Declaration Expected to Relieve All Irritation and Friction.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER. Full, frank and almost fulsome tribute came yesterday to Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, from the lips of the White House spokesman to take the edge off the blunt statement made last Friday that if Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State, resigns, Mr. Hoover would not be given that cabinet portfolio.

The amende honorable served not only to break the ice of the White House relative to the incident, but also still the doubt in the minds of those who could not understand what the previous pronouncement had meant, unless it indicated that the chief executive was not pleased with the conduct of his cabinet associate.

The statement made yesterday at the executive office by the Presidential spokesman was complete enough to be accepted as evidence that there is no desire on the part of the President to break with his associate, and that as far as the chief executive is concerned he has no quarrel with Mr. Hoover.

The statement made yesterday at the executive office by the Presidential spokesman was complete enough to be accepted as evidence that there is no desire on the part of the President to break with his associate, and that as far as the chief executive is concerned he has no quarrel with Mr. Hoover.

CHANCE RESIGNATION REVEALS WIDE RIFT IN AMATEUR DRY

Organized Bible Class and Douthitt Organizations Differ on Plans.

ROLL OF "SNOOPERS" SEEN AS REPELLANT

Former Postmaster Quits, in Disapproval of Any Spying on Neighbors.

The way for a split in the ranks of the Organized Bible Class association over the ambitious plans of H. J. Douthitt, erstwhile prohibition agent, for prohibition enforcement developed yesterday with the resignation of one of the most prominent members, M. O. Chance, former city postmaster, and treasurer of the Bible Class association.

Chance's resignation, at the same time brought into sharp relief the difference between the plan as understood by the Bible Class association, and that of Douthitt, who by virtue of the fact that he is no longer connected with the prohibition unit, is prepared to act as paid secretary of the association, which he formed, and which so far as known exists only in his person and that of Horace L. Stevenson, employee of a local real estate firm, who was prevailed upon to become president, visualizes a staff of neighborhood investigators to report liquor-law violations to him and he in return will "cooperate" with the police.

Thought Plan Educational. On the other hand, Page McK. Etchison, executive secretary of the Bible Class association, is authority for the statement that the executive committee of that association understood Douthitt's plan to be an educational campaign for Bible class students to report violations which they encountered, and that they were in no wise to become "snoopers." According to Etchison, Douthitt, who is no longer connected with the government in any capacity, appeared before the executive committee and sought endorsement "in principle" of his "church service association."

The endorsement was given. Chance, reading of Mr. Douthitt's plan for his "church service association," promptly resigned.

"The organization, I consider, is a very fine one, if it sticks to its knitting, but I do not believe it was ever organized to do any spying on the neighbors of its members," said Chance, referring to the Organized Bible class.

Following Chance's resignation, Hon. J. C. Connelley, president of the association, and Etchison, issued a statement saying that "inasmuch as this new organization (Douthitt's organization) has not been formed, temporary chairman only being named, no meetings held, no governing board or officers elected, and therefore no policies determined upon, it would seem to be a large amount of publicity given to the so-called activities of the organization is most unusual."

Douthitt's formulated plans must be approved, it was said, and the indications are that those at present connected with the association, because it has been assumed at that time that the qualifications of the Secretary of Commerce are so well known that they needed no repetition. Mr. Hoover's reputation both at home and abroad, it was pointed out, was so well established that his executive ability and accomplishments that it could not be questioned.

The possession of these attributes, it was said, made Mr. Hoover such a valuable man that the President could not dispense with his services if he wished to do so, and he was represented as having no such desire.

In addition it was said that it was generally recognized that the qualifications of Mr. Hoover were such that he could fill to any one's satisfaction any place which he might be inclined to accept.

A deal of emphasis was placed upon the importance of the position which Mr. Hoover now occupies in the country's commerce both at home and abroad, which deals intimately with the foreign and domestic commerce of the nation.

The final flattering period dealt with the tremendous increase that this country's commerce both at home and abroad had shown under the direction of Mr. Hoover.

In not a single instance since President Coolidge entered the White House has his spokesman dwelt at such length or in such extravagant praise of any person in his administration or out. Taken at its face value, and it could not be taken otherwise, the statement would not be regarded in any other light than a desire on the part of the President to retain the services of Mr. Hoover and to show both him and the country generally that the current remarks had not been intended to be taken as an angry denunciation of a member of the cabinet.

Gloth Trial Today On Charges of Bailie. The case of Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, who has been cited to show cause why he should not be removed from office as the result of a petition filed in the circuit court by Thomas D. Bailie, of Clarendon, in which it is alleged Gloth was seen in an intoxicated condition on many occasions, will begin today at 10 o'clock in the Arlington county circuit court, before Judge C. Vernon Spratley, of the circuit court of Hampton, Va.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth stated that he was ready for the trial. A prosecuting attorney will be appointed by the court.

GIRL TAKES POISON IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Discovered on Street Near Mailbox and Removed to Walter Reed.

Found prostrate in the street last night, near a mail box at Georgia avenue and Kennedy street northwest, her hands clenching three unmailed letters, Mrs. Dorothy Sager, 23 years old, who told police she had been living at 1830 Riggs place northwest, was taken to Walter Reed hospital and treated for poisoning.

In her pockets physicians found a bottle of poison tablets, four of which were missing. Robert West, jr., and his brother Lewis, of 6800 Laurel street northwest, who took her to the hospital, told police she told them she had taken the poison tablets with suicidal intent.

Out of the letters, according to William L. Cunningham, of 207 Sheridan street northwest, brother-in-law of Mrs. Sager, was addressed to him, one to a sister, living at 2622 Garfield street northwest, and another to a young man friend of Mrs. Sager, whose name has not been ascertained. Shortly before midnight, Mrs. Sager was removed from Walter Reed hospital to the home of her sister, at 207 Sheridan street northwest. She is expected to recover.

CLEANING OF COATS IS FATAL TO WOMAN

Mrs. Hickey Dies From Burns Incurred in Aiding 3 Motherless Children.

Mrs. Annie T. Hickey, 51, of 16 Sixteenth street southeast, sought to clean the Easter coats of three motherless children in her neighborhood and in so doing brought bereavement to her own five children. She died yesterday at Walter Reed hospital from burns received last Wednesday afternoon while she was cleaning the coats.

Her husband, Edward J. Hickey, 55, former army captain, was burned on the arms and hands when he attempted to extinguish the flames.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hickey will be held tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence. Mass will be sung in Holy Comforter church, Fourteenth and East Capitol streets. Burial will be in Arlington cemetery. The five daughters who survive her are the Misses Florence, Virginia, Margaret, Helen and Anne Hickey.

Baby Ought to Get Plenty of Sunshine

Delightful sunny days should never pass without getting baby out for a ride. Sunshine is essential to baby's health. It is a tonic that does not come in bottles.

Of course to benefit most, baby should be riding in a comfortable carriage—one that fits the natural curves of his body. And mother will want it to roll easily.

PLANES TO HOP OFF IN NEW YORK-PARIS FLIGHT NUMBER SIX

Lieut. Ehrigott, the Latest
Entry, to Have Commander
Klein as His Aid.

POND AND LANPHER
ALSO WILL TAKE PART

Bertraud, Mail Flier, Is Selected to Command the Bellanca Entry.

New York, April 19 (By A. P.).—The number of planes, which will hop off from New York in the attempt to fly to Paris this year, was raised to six today with the announcement by the Aircraft Corporation of America that Lieut. Winston W. Ehrigott, former West Pointer, and now a member of the New York national guard, will head an expedition in an all-metal, amphibian plane, now being constructed at the Igor Sikorsky plant in Brooklyn. He will compete for the $25,000 Orteig prize.

The expedition, headed by Lieut. Ehrigott, will have Comdr. J. H. Klein, former commander and observer aboard the "Los Angeles" dirigible on its trip from Germany to this country as official navigator. The flight captain and first pilot will be Lieut. George R. Pond, test pilot of government planes during the war. The second pilot will be Maj. Thomas G. Lanpher, commanding officer at Selfridge field, Mount Clemens, Mich.

Brainard Field Headquarters.

The Ehrigott expedition will make its headquarters at Brainard field, Hartford, Conn., until it is ready for the hop-off from New York. The plane to be used, according to John H. Stelling, president of the Aircraft Corporation of America, is equipped with twin Wright J-5 motors, and has a maximum speed capacity of 120 miles per hour. It will carry a 50 hour supply of gasoline.

The other transatlantic flights include the Bellanca entry, Commander Richard E. Byrd, whose plane was delayed by the accident at Teterboro airport last Saturday; Noel Davis in his American Legion; Charles Lindbergh, of St. Louis, in a Ryan monoplane; and Rene Fonck, in a Sikorsky plane.

Bertraud to Command.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 19 (By A. P.).—Lloyd W. Bertraud, Cleveland air mail pilot, will be navigator and flight commander on the Wright-Bellanca monoplane which recently broke the world's endurance record, on its flight from New York to Paris within the next ten days. It was announced late today by C. F. Egge, superintendent of the Eastern air mail division. Egge said Bertraud was chosen by the designer of the plane.

Bertraud, once holder of the world's endurance record, will make his regular mail flight to New York tonight, completing plans for the transatlantic hop there. His companion on the Paris flight probably will be either Clarence D. Chamberlin or Bert Acosta, who made the recent record from Minneapolis.

Paris Plane Tested.

Paris, April 19 (By A. P.).—Although a certain air of mystery is being maintained about the trials of the transatlantic plane built for Capt. Nungesser, the Matin said today it has been established that the machine has the necessary lifting power to carry sufficient gasoline to make a nonstop flight from Paris to New York.

The tests are being continued methodically, and if good weather continues, will be completed by the end of the week. Making a long flight yesterday, Capt. Nungesser and Capt. Coli, reached a height of 18,000 feet, at which altitude he reported a temperature of 31 degrees below zero. Later he tested the plane for speed.

Will Rogers Sees Tolerance Needed in Politics Also

Special to The Washington Post.
Warren, Ohio, April 19.—It was amusing this morning to read the various comments on Al Smith's statement. Carmi Thompson, Republican, who was supposed to be so broadminded he decided the destiny of the Philippine nation, said of the Smith article: "I haven't read and don't intend to read it."

Congressman Burton (Republican), Ohio, said: "I wouldn't make any statement."

Now, which is the narrowest, religious intolerance or political intolerance? Politicians think an um-pire's decision is based on "What will my decision do for the party?"

RED TAPE DEFENDED BY TREASURY OFFICIAL

Government Matters Must Move Slowly, Dewey
Tells Conference.

Governmental red tape is necessary,
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Dewey told the conference on public administration at George Washington university yesterday. Many officials are concerned with matters that come before the government, Mr.
Dewey said, and it is necessary that the matters move slowly from one official to the other. Discussing conditions at the bureau of engraving and printing,
Mr. Dewey said that there had been some discontent because it was presided over by a man who "hired and fired" in typical boss manner without regard to efficiency. This situation has been relieved and things are now running smoothly there, he said.

Forty colleges and universities are represented at the meeting, which is for the purpose of acquainting them with the activities and functions of the various governmental departments. The meetings, to be concluded today, are being held in Corcoran hall of the university.

Besides Mr. Dewey, other speakers were President William Mather Lewis of the university; Joseph C. Grew, Undersecretary of State; Brig. Gen. H. M.
Lord, director of the budget; Dr. Charles Moore, chairman of the fine arts commission; J. Walter Wake, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and Prof. G. E. Hill of the university.

$1,896,398 SOUGHT FOR BOTANIC GARDEN

Congress to Be Asked for Funds; Bartholdi Fountain Being Removed.

The campaign for a larger botanic garden will be carried forward to the next Congress despite retardation of the movement by the last senatorial filibuster. Plans requesting an appropriation of $1,896,398 for relocation of the garden and its enlargement, are prepared for submission to Congress in December.

The sum of $820,000 is asked for purchase of a new site south and west of the Capitol grounds and $976,398 for construction, the first sum being carried in the last second deficiency bill, and the second added as an amendment.

Removal of the Bartholdi fountain has begun, this expense being borne by the State of Pennsylvania to permit completion of the Meade memorial, part of which will extend across the old site of the fountain. The removal is to be done in time for the dedication tentatively set for July 4, the sixty-fourth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, in which Gen.
George Gordon Meade, was the leader of the Northern forces.

Condition of Carroll Shows Improvement

Greenville, S. C., April 19 (By A. P.).
Continued improvement in the condition of Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, was reported today from the city hospital, where he has been a patient since Wednesday.

Hospital attaches said Carroll was resting more comfortably today, but they gave no additional information as to when he could be taken to Atlanta.
Deputy United States Marshal John C.
Pinkley, of New York, is still here, in technical custody of the prisoner.

STAND ON DRY LAW HELD SMITH'S KEY TO SOUTH

Jesse H. Jones Says Statement Like One on Religion
Will Win Aid.

BAKER LAUDS GOVERNOR

New York, April 19 (By A. P.).—
Gov. Alfred E. Smith can win the support of the South in the Democratic national convention by stating his stand on prohibition as clearly and convincingly as he stated his stand on religion in his letter to Charles H.
Marshall, Jesse H. Jones, director of Finance for the Democratic national committee, said here today.

Mr. Jones, who is publisher of the Houston Chronicle, said the South is far more interested in prohibition than religion.

Richmond, Va., April 19 (By A. P.).
Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, Secretary of War in President Wilson's cabinet, today issued a statement commending Gov. Smith for his "straightforward and convincing statement."

"Gov. Smith's statement is straightforward and convincing," Mr. Baker said. "Gov. Smith's life has been a demonstration of his fidelity to the Constitution which he has sworn to support, and nobody who has followed his career as governor of the great State of New York will have the slightest notion that he would be swayed in the performance of his public duty by an influence at variance with the letter and spirit of the Constitution."

Rome, April 19 (By A. P.).—The Vatican officially informed the Associated Press today that it has no information concerning the declaration in which Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, who is a Catholic, defined his conception of the relationship between the church and the state.

In any case it was asserted, the Holy See would have absolutely no comment to make on this or any similar matter affecting American politics, since such questions are considered purely internal concerns of the United States upon which the Vatican does not desire to enter.

Scobey Appointed Reserve Director

(By the Associated Press.)
F. E. Scobey, of San Antonio, former director of the mint, has been appointed director of the new San Antonio branch of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank. The appointment was announced yesterday by Gov. Crissinger, of the Reserve Board.

Mr. Scobey resigned the directorship of the mint soon after the death of President Harding, whose personal friend he had been for many years.
His appointment to the San Antonio directorship is for a three-year term.

(By Associated Press.)
Three of the ships recently purchased by the Ford Motor Co. from the Shipping Board for scrapping, may be converted to self-propelling barges under an approval voted yesterday by the board. The company agreed to pay an additional $10,000 for each of the ships if permitted to convert them into barges. The vessels are of the lake type and were purchased for $8,500 each.

Rosa Sucher, Famous Opera Star, Dies Poor

Eschweiler, Rheinisch Prussia, Germany, April 19 (By A. P.).—Rosa Sucher, 78 years old, famous Wagnerian prima donna of a generation ago, died here today. She was in reduced circumstances.

Rosa Sucher was reputed to be the greatest Isolde among the immediate predecessors of Milka Ternina. She sang from 1878 for about 30 years.
Among explanations for the early failure of her beautiful voice was the theory that it was caused by her wifely devotion in accompanying her husband to supper every night after the opera.
In 1894 she was brought to the United States by Walter Damroch, and sang her famous role of Isolde at the Metropolitan opera.

Colorado's Adventure Land

COSTS NO MORE THAN A VACATION NEAR HOME
—TWO WEEKS IS PLENTY OF TIME

Free Book—Mail Coupon

THAT glorious vacation in Colorado you have dreamed about—let's
it this year.

Have you two weeks? That's plenty. Colorado is near! Only a day and a night from Chicago.
Ten days, at least, of wonderful fun in the mountains!

Cost? Much lower than you may think. Special summer rates on the Burlington are surprisingly low. And accommodations in Colorado are very moderate—comfortable, convenient lodging and board for as low as $17.50 a week. An ordinary near-to-home vacation would cost you as much!

Then why not this real vacation? Rocky Mountain National-Estes Park, the Pike's Peak region, Denver's Mountain Parks, the world-famous 236-mile Grand Circle Tour, and a hundred other wonderful experiences are in store for you.

FORD WILL ACCUSE JUROR AS GROUNDS FOR MISTRIAL PLEA

Counsel Will Allege Misconduct When Sapiro Suit Is Resumed Tomorrow.

WOMAN IS QUESTIONED REGARDING DETECTIVES

Gallagher Assails Defendant's Attorneys and Investigators in Court Address.

Detroit, April 19 (By A. P.).—Alleged misconduct of a juror will be made the grounds for a motion for mistrial when Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford is resumed Thursday morning, Stewart Hanley, of Ford counsel, told Judge

Fred M. Raymond today in successfully requesting a continuance until then because of the illness of Senator James A. Reed, chief of Ford counsel. Hanley did not state his reason for the mistrial motion in open court, but later said "we will move for mistrial on the grounds of misconduct of a juror."

It was understood that one of the six women on the jury was called into Judge Raymond's office last night and questioned about reports of an investigation by detectives for the Ford organization.

William Henry Gallagher, chief of counsel for Sapiro, who himself a few days ago moved for a mistrial, bitterly assailed the Ford counsel and Ford detectives in an address to the court, and Judge Raymond himself felt the lash of Gallagher's tongue.

Gallagher referred to "fear of the collapse of the Ford case," asserted that Ford detectives had lined the corridors of the Federal building since the inception of the trial and frequently had been seen in conference with jurors and stated also that twice Judge Raymond had received members of Ford counsel in his private chambers while Sapiro's counsel was excluded.

Shouts Inquiry to Judge. Judge Raymond said to Gallagher that he twice had been asked into chambers conferences. After court had been adjourned and Judge Raymond was passing through the little door back of his bench into his private retreat Gallagher halted him with a shouted inquiry as to when was the first time he had been asked into a chamber conference.

"I do not want to enter into any controversy with you," returned the judge, "you are invited to ask questions."

Gallagher, Sapiro, his brother, Milton Sapiro, and the Ford attorneys gathered in chambers. William Hoffman, the eleventh juror to be chosen, was brought before Judge Raymond last night by George H. Beamer, deputy United States marshal, acting as chief officer of the court during the trial. She was interrogated by the judge for 45 minutes upon reports made to him by Ford counsel, who in turn had them from Ford detectives.

At the end of the long conference in chambers Sapiro and his counsel and the Ford attorneys emerged silently. No one would say what had occurred, and Judge Raymond added his refusal to that of the lawyers.

"I have given my word that I would not say anything," said Sapiro.

MRS. RITA LYDIG DENIES SHE RECEIVED $2,000,000

Stokes Did Not Pay Her for Son, She Testifies; Is Not Aided by Estate.

OFFERS TO SELL EFFECTS $100,000 REPORTED PAID

New York, April 19 (By A. P.).—A pale shadow of a one-time brilliant society woman today stood before her creditors in bankruptcy proceedings and, testifying in disregard of her physicians' orders, offered to sell her household furnishings to meet her liabilities of $93,035.14.

She was Mrs. Rita H. De A. Lydig, divorced wife of the late W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel man. The hearing, the first step in the proceedings since Mrs. Lydig filed her bankruptcy petition on April 6, was adjourned until May 2, by which time Nathaniel Ottensmeyer, receiver, expects to have disposed of her effects at private sale or public auction.

Mrs. Lydig said she had never received $2,000,000 from Stokes for returning to him their son, W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., after their divorce. She had no concealed assets, it is not receiving any income from the Stokes estate, and is attempting to secure a share in it through litigation, she said.

Mrs. Lydig's slender figure was almost completely enveloped in a long black coat of the height of style a few years ago. Prior to her appearance, two physicians testified that she was too ill to take the stand and was suffering from "general nervous debility and exhaustion." Mrs. Lydig said she had been in the hospital for a long time and that her illness and costly operations and her consequent inability to attend to her affairs.

DR. C. H. PARKHURST, 85, TAKES BRIDE, 65

Once Famous Crusader and Reformer Weds in West; Feared Publicity.

Los Angeles, April 19 (By A. P.).—The fear of publicity which kept them apart for several years was banished here yesterday and Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, 85, veteran reform leader and vice crusader, and Mrs. Eleanor Marx, 65, both of New York, were quietly married.

The wedding followed a friendship of twenty years. The couple would speak little of their marriage except to admit that the fear of the publicity they believed would attend their wedding in New York caused them to come to California where few people would know them.

The wedding would have taken place some years ago had not both feared the publicity that would have followed, they said.

Dr. Parkhurst retired from active work in the ministry some years ago. New York, April 19 (By A. P.).—Rev. Dr. Charles Henry Parkhurst attracted national attention in the '90's by being sensational charges against Tammany hall and the police which resulted in the famous Lexow investigation by the State legislature.

As a result of the disclosures, showing a connection between the police and criminals, Richard Croker, then chief of Tammany hall, left for Europe. Tammany went down to defeat in the election that followed and Theodore Roosevelt was named police commissioner.

U. S. Fliers in Havana After 550-Mile Hop

Havana, April 19 (By A. P.).—The Pan American air squadron of the United States army flew over Havana at 2:35 o'clock this afternoon. The aviators came from Santiago, a distance of 550 miles. They settled down in Havana harbor, where they were received by representatives of President Machado and the secretaries of the American embassy.

Maj. Dargue, commandant of the squadron, said the nonstop flight from Santiago to Havana was made in five and one-half hours. He plans to hop off here Saturday in order to arrive at Miami, Fla., at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

CABARET OWNERS FREED BY KIDNAPERS IN CHICAGO

Three Are Kept Blindfolded in House for Five Days, Declares Gelell.

$100,000 REPORTED PAID

Chicago, April 19 (By A. P.).—The kidnaped owners of the Midnight Frolics cafe, who were "superblacked" Thursday and held prisoners five days, have been released as mysteriously as they disappeared.

There were reports that ransom of $100,000 was required to effect the freedom of the two—Jette Adler and Frank (Sappho Joe) Gelell—and there was the statement of Gelell that so far as he knows the kidnapers received nothing. Adler and Tony Albino, his chauffeur, who also was kidnaped, had nothing to say.

The three men, blindfolded, were put out of automobiles at separate parts of the city at half-hour intervals last night.

Gelell, who also is known as Frank Lawro, talked freely. He said he and Adler got into their automobile, driven by Albino, at the Frolics about 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning and drove to Adler's home. As Adler stepped out eight masked men, armed with sawed-off shotguns, forced him to reenter the automobile. Adler, Gelell and Albino then were bound and blindfolded and driven away.

"They kept us in a house all the time," he said. "Adler and me in one room and Tony in another. Our blindfolds were never removed."

Payment of the reported ransom is said to have been made via a saloon-keeper acting as intermediary. This was early last night, the police say, about three hours before the men were free.

The triple kidnaping was the latest of what the police speak of as "big money" crimes. Several figures of the South Side cabaret and gambling cliques have engaged bodyguards to forestall kidnaping, the police have learned.

30 Years Is Asked For 2 Fascisti Foes

Rome, April 19 (By A. P.).—Thirty years' imprisonment, the maximum penalty today was asked by the prosecution against Tito Zaniboni, former socialist deputy, and General Luigi Capello, accused of conspiring against the life of Premier Mussolini and plotting an insurrection. Summing up the case of the prosecution before the military tribunal, Attorney General Nosseda declared that Zaniboni, who started the courtroom last week by calling Premier Mussolini an impostor and declaring his hatred for fascism, was guilty of "homicide," attempted insurrection and carrying a rifle. Gen. Capello, who has maintained his innocence, the attorney general asserted, was guilty of complicity in an attempted insurrection.

BILL PASSED TO MAKE NEW BRUNSWICK WET

Only Two Dry Provinces if Royal Assent Is Given the Measure.

Fredericton, N. B., April 19 (By A. P.). Royal assent to the bill permitting sale of intoxicants in this province is all that remains to make Canada a wet country in 1928, with the exception of the province of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Premier Baxter's bill, designed to permit the sale of intoxicants, was passed by the provincial legislature today. By its terms, sale of liquor would be under control of the government. It is fashioned after the bill soon to go into effect in Ontario, with the difference that persons buying illicit liquor would receive the same punishment as those convicted of selling it.

The remaining part to put the bill on the statutes is assent by the crown, which is by signature of the dominion lieutenant-governor. He is expected to sign it. Despite opposition to the bill on the part of the government supporters, who are prohibitionists, Premier Baxter, in introducing it, said it expressed the will of the majority supporting the government.

MAE WEST MUST SERVE TEN DAYS IN WORKHOUSE

Morganstern and Timoney to Put in Ten Days in Tombs for Producing "Sex."

WILL WRITE PRISON PLAY

New York, April 19 (By A. P.).—Mae West, who starred in the play "Sex" for 270 nights on the great white way, tonight sat in a cell in Jefferson Market prison and contemplated a nine-day stay in the workhouse on Welfare island, serving with a mop in the workhouse laundry while she gathers material for a play.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss West, with her coproducer, Clarence W. Morganstern, and James A. Timoney, co-author, had completed the first day of a ten-day sentence imposed this morning for staging an obscene production. The actress, before being fingerprinted this morning, said she would probably write a play based on her workhouse experiences, but supposed "it will have to be O.K'd by the learned district attorney before I can put it on."

Morganstern and Timoney are to serve their sentences in Tombs prison. In addition to meeting out the prison sentences, Judge George L. Donnellan, sitting in general sessions, fined Miss West and Timoney each $500. Nineteen actors and actresses, convicted of taking part in the play, received suspended sentences.

Eight of the twelve jurors had signed a petition recommending suspended sentences for the producers and actors. District Attorney Jacob H. Egan, however, asked jail sentences for Miss West, Timoney and Morganstern.

Six Killed in Storm. Sydney, New South Wales, April 19 (By A. P.).—After four days of rain, the worst storm in fifteen years struck this city last night, causing six deaths. Roofs were torn from buildings by the wind, and there was much damage.

$24,000 Finery Stolen From Mme. Schipa

Chicago, April 19 (By A. P.).—Mme. Tito Schipa, wife of the tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera company, reported the theft of four wardrobe trunks of finery upon her arrival here today from El Paso, Tex., en route to New York. She saved personal jewelry estimated to value $100,000 by wearing it, she told railroad officials, after her husband insisted that she pack it with her personal apparel.

The trunks contained a pearl stud valued at $12,000 and clothing valued at $12,000. She expressed the belief that some one had broken into her room when she started her trip, and took her trunk checks, later claiming the baggage.

CABINET RUMORS.

As the presidential campaign approaches the flood of rumors rises and threatens to break all the levees. One of the favorite methods of "starting something" is to circulate rumors of changes in the cabinet. Secretary Kellogg, being at the head of the list, finds almost every morning that he is about to resign, sometimes in pique, sometimes because he is no longer wanted and sometimes because others want his place. One of the most persistent of these rumors recently was that which assigned Secretary Hoover to the State Department.

In an effort to hold the levee against the flood the President's spokesman last week not only denied that Secretary Kellogg would resign but added the offhand remark that even if Mr. Kellogg should resign Mr. Hoover would not be appointed to succeed him. Whereupon the flood turned and threatened to break through in a new place. Ah! So President Coolidge was dissatisfied with Hoover! Mr. Hoover aspired to be a candidate, and Mr. Coolidge took this occasion to cut him down! Naturally, Mr. Hoover's friends would demand that he resign at once and leave the Coolidge administration to its fate.

Apparently the President has cautioned his spokesman to be a little bit more discreet, because Mr. Coolidge's alter ego yesterday took occasion to speak in the highest terms of Mr. Hoover, saying that his international reputation was well established throughout the world and that when it was denied that he might be appointed Secretary of State there was no intention to reflect upon his capacity to fill that office.

That settles that. Now the way is clear for another freshet of rumors concerning other members of the cabinet.

REDUCING THE PUBLIC DEBT.

Treasury financing and refunding operations during March included two offerings of Treasury certificates and an issue of Treasury notes in exchange for second Liberty loan bonds. One set of Treasury certificates will be due in six months at 3 1/2 per cent, and the other series will be due in one year, bearing 3 3/4 per cent. Subscriptions to these two new series of Treasury certificates were four times the amount offered, demonstrating the extraordinary credit of the government. The public offered $1,250,000,000 to the Treasury at 3 1/2 and 3 3/4 per cent interest.

From July 1, 1926, to February 28, 1927, the public debt was reduced about $675,000,000 by the application of the sinking fund, by purchases and retirements on account of principal and interest payments received from foreign governments, and by utilization of surplus revenue, cash in the general fund, and other receipts.

The aggregate debt reduction from July 1, 1926, to February 28, 1927, was $6,331,951,000. One-third was effected by application of the sinking fund, one-third by the surplus revenue in excess of ordinary receipts, and one-third by receipts from foreign governments and various other items.

March financing and exchange operations effected a reduction in the Treasury's annual interest charge of approximately $26,000,000. Interest rates on the securities retired in March was 4 1/2 and 4 3/4 per cent. Interest rates on the new securities issued were 3 1/2, 3 3/4 and 3 1/2 per cent.

The ease and rapidity with which these large financial transactions, involving millions, are carried on demonstrate the efficiency of the Treasury machinery.

OVERPRODUCTION OF OIL.

California wholesalers of gasoline are engaged in a price war. The consumer is getting most of the benefit, with gasoline being retailed for 12 1/2 cents a gallon. It is not usual, however, for trade warfare to echo over any considerable distance; therefore there is news in the fact that prices have been cut in New York city also to as low as 17 cents.

The warfare reflects the conditions which exist in the oil industry. Early in March, a Tulsa, Okla., expert made the assertion that 75,000 more barrels of crude oil were being extracted each day than refiners could take care of, and that there were at that time 3,300,000 more barrels of gasoline on hand than in 1926. Moreover, new wells have been brought in almost daily in Oklahoma, where production has outstripped storage and pipeline facilities. Add to this the fact that the efficiency of cracking methods of obtaining gasoline from crude oil have been increased considerably, and it is apparent that the oil industry is not exactly sitting easily.

On the other hand, during 1926 refineries consumed some 860,000,000 barrels of crude oil, whereas only 775,000,000 were produced. The estimated consumption for this year is 900,000,000 barrels of crude, which means that refineries will have to draw some 22,000,000 barrels from storage and importation.

It appears that the oil industry is suffering from a complaint similar to that which affected the cotton industry last year. Oil is being overproduced, and the price must suffer. This, however, is not an alarming matter to the automobilist, who hopes that repercussions of the California price war will reach the entire Atlantic seaboard, with a generous reduction in the cost of this summer's motoring.

PROTECTING BUSINESS SECRETS.

After seven years of litigation, the United States Supreme Court decides that the Federal Trade Commission can not arbitrarily compel manufacturing corporations to disclose cost of production, balance sheets and other information relating to their business without first bringing the matter to the attention of the Attorney General.

The case arose from an attempt of the trade commission to compel the Claire Furnace Co. and 21 others to furnish the commission such information in voluminous monthly reports. The companies complained that the commission exceeded its powers, and asked that it be restrained.

The court decides that the matter should have been brought before the Attorney General to ascertain what inquiries were proper and reasonable. Chief Justice Taft, rendering the opinion, says that Congress intended that the Attorney General should make such investigation to ascertain the scope and propriety of the commission's orders.

The question as to the scope of inquiries made by government agencies such as the Federal Trade Commission to ascertain cost of production and other matters of private business is not settled in this case. In a recent decision, however, the Supreme Court decided that the tariff commission is not required to make public information obtained as to cost of production for the purpose of applying the provisions of the tariff act.

In the trade commission case the court passes the matter back to the Attorney General as the proper officer to sift out the reasonable and proper questions the commission might ask, eliminating all that might injure the business of manufacturers and disclose secret processes. It appears that the principle involved in both cases is substantially the same—whether it is public policy to compel manufacturers and producers to reveal to the public such information about their affairs as might injure their business. Manifestly, business secrets or processes deserve the protection of the courts as much as any other property.

FARM CONDITIONS.

According to the farm census taken by the Department of Commerce, there were only 29,000,000 individuals living on farms during 1925, as compared with the 31,500,000 farm population of 1920. The figures for 1925, however, include only those persons actually living on farms; those of 1920 include also farm laborers and their families who, while not living on farms, lived outside the limits of any incorporated place. Actual figures as to the size of this group are not available. The best estimate to be obtained, however, is that the laborers and their families number less than 1,000,000 individuals. It appears, therefore, that the five-year period has witnessed a drift from farm to city of nearly 2,000,000 individuals.

The number of farms on January 1 of each year under scrutiny was about the same, 6,370,000 in 1925 and 6,450,000 in 1920. Their value in 1920 was approximately $13,775,000,000. Deflation of values since then exacted a toll of some $3,000,000,000, however, so that although the amount of mortgage debt has remained practically stationary, the ratio of debt to value has increased nearly 13 per cent.

In 1919 the American farmer sold co-operatively about $720,000,000 worth of products. In 1924 he sold more than $850,000,000 in this manner. In 1919 he purchased co-operatively nearly $85,000,000 worth of supplies. In 1924, however, he purchased in this manner only $76,000,000 worth.

The number of tractors on farms more than doubled during the period, despite which the value of implements and machinery decreased almost $1,000,000. In 1919 more than $1,400,000 was expended for feed and fertilizers, whereas in 1924 less than $1,000,000 was spent for these commodities. More gallons of milk were produced in 1924 than in 1919, and less butter was made, but more butter fat, more milk and more chicken eggs were sold. Not much more than half as many gallons of cream were sent to market. The census does not show a particularly happy state of affairs.

WHO WANTS AN ISLAND?

In 1882 the Secretary of the Interior issued an order withdrawing from public entry all the islands in the Mississippi river south of Cairo. At that time the islands were considered as of possible value to the army engineers in the improvement of navigation. But if they were ever of any particular value to the War Department they are no longer considered as necessary, and, as a consequence, the order of withdrawal has been revoked and they are now restored to the public domain and as such open to settlement under the land laws of the United States, with preferential rights to veterans.

That there is not likely to be any great rush to secure these free lands is, however, evident from the fact that many of them have never been surveyed, nor is the Interior Department, which announces the reopening, able to give any definite information as to the extent of the "archipelago" or the acreage contained therein. If any reader of The Post happens to have a discharge certificate from the army and a desire to acquire a homestead in the Mississippi river he may first find out by inquiry just which island appears most attractive, and then he may file his application. But such applications must be sent to the general land office between May 21 and June 9.

These dates apply to former service men only. The general public will have a chance, if there is anything left, beginning at 1 o'clock in the morning on August 20. While the general land office stands ready to furnish all necessary application blanks it is unable to furnish a descriptive list. Information relative to the status of any particular island may be obtained from the commissioner of the general land office. As these islands are strung all along the river from Illinois to Louisiana there can, of course, be no guarantee that any particular one will be found in the place where it ought to be after the Mississippi gets back home. At last accounts the "Father of Waters" was wandering over half a dozen States where he had no business to be. It is probably because of the habit of the islands of the Mississippi of disappearing from their proper habitat that the War Department has grown tired of their custody and the Interior Department so generously offers them to any one who will assume guardianship over them.

WHAT TYPE AIRPLANE?

Commander Francesco de Pinedo, whose four-continent flight came to an end with the accidental burning of his plane at Roosevelt dam, believes that proper equipment is the principal problem of transatlantic commercial aviation. Planes must be more powerful and more compact if they are to carry fuel and supplies necessary for the hop across the Atlantic and still provide room for passengers and freight.

The theory is interesting, additionally so in that it is about to be put to the acid test. Three planes are now being groomed for the transatlantic flight—the America, which will be piloted by Commander Byrd if he recovers from his injuries in sufficient time; the American Legion, to which Commander Davis will pin his hopes, and the unnamed Wright-Bellanca monoplane which recently broke the record for sustained flight, and which will be piloted by the civilians Acosta and Chamberlain. The America is the giant, with a wing span of not much under 80 feet, and powered by three 200-horsepower engines. The baby is the Wright-Bellanca, powered by one 200-horsepower engine, and with a wing spread of but 45 feet. In between the two lies the American Legion, also powered by three 200-horsepower engines, and with a span of 67 feet.

Like the three bears, there is a big plane, a little plane and a medium-sized plane, all of which are about to attempt exactly the same feat. Possibly the result will be a triumph for all three. Nevertheless, the performance of each probably will have considerable bearing on future airplane design.

THE WAR AGAINST FIRE.

According to reports just made public, more than $23,000,000,000 worth of new building construction took place in the years 1922 to 1925. In the same period fire losses increased less than $43,000,000, or about 1 per cent of estimated increase in burnable wealth. In 1922 the Federal Trade Commission put the national wealth, exclusive of land, at $231,000,000,000. The reported fire loss in that year was $405,000,000, or about 1.75 to each thousand of burnable wealth. The trend of fire losses has slowed up steadily for several years. In 1920 the increase over 1919 amounted to $102,000,000, or 40 per cent, attributed by engineers largely to the inflation of property values in that year. An increase of $30,000,000 was shown in 1921, or 8 per cent over 1920, but 1922 losses exceeded those of the succeeding year by only $17,000,000, or 4.3 per cent. In 1923 the increase was 5.7 per cent, but in 1924 this had dropped again to $11,000,000, or 2.6 per cent over 1923, and in 1925 it was only $8,000,000, or 1.8 per cent greater than in 1924.

These are significant figures, proving as they do that the national campaign against fire is having its effect. Although each year has witnessed an increase in fire losses, the ratio of such increase has been steadily downward. Before long, if the trend holds true, the United States will be showing a decrease of fire losses each year.

Fire losses can never be impersonal matters, even though the public is slow to realize that each conflagration is paid for indirectly out of its pocket. When this truth finally is driven home it may be expected that fire losses for the country as a whole will take a decided drop. The encouraging record should serve to stimulate further efforts to educate the careless public.

VIRGINIA AND THE CHINESE WAR.

The tobacco farmer of Virginia probably never gave a thought to the civil war in China as having a direct bearing upon his particular line of agriculture, and if any one had suggested to him last fall that the harvest then being cured might be affected by events in Shanghai or Canton the suggestion would probably have been greeted with a laugh.

Yet the effects of the Chinese war are being felt, and severely felt, in the heart of Virginia's tobacco district. Reports from Richmond indicate that exports of bright flue-cured tobacco fell from 17,201,907 pounds in January, 1926, to 9,894,862 pounds in January of this year, while there were exported only 7,187,321 pounds of the same grade in February of this year, as compared with 11,875,742 pounds in February, 1926.

Bright flue-cured tobacco and cigarettes are the principal items entering into the American tobacco trade with China, and like the slump in the shipment of American tobacco to the Chinese republic there has been a marked falling off in the demand for American cigarettes. This is doubtless due to the fact, as cabled from Commissioner Myhus, who looks after the interests of the Department of Agriculture in Tientsin, that foreign tobacco dealers in the Yangtze valley and south China have evacuated that territory, and that similar evacuations are taking place in the business centers of north China.

With a falling off of 40 per cent in the amount of tobacco and an equal curtailment in the demand for Virginia cigarettes in China it is easy to understand that the tobacco grower of the Piedmont district is very deeply interested in the prompt answer to the question, "Who's who in China today?"

There is no barley stone in America, but a two-karat stone beats any amount of blarney.

You've noticed, doubtless, that the world's greatest era of accomplishment preceded the efficiency expert.

PRESS COMMENT.

Not Even an Armistice.
Indianapolis Star: The country entered the war ten years ago, and Chicago is still in it.

Farm Pests.
Los Angeles Times: A farm is rapidly becoming a body of land entirely surrounded by politicians.

He Must Be.
Marion Star: And now a judge out in Kansas rules that a husband needn't listen to his wife's conversation. It's simply remarkable how many unmarried men have places on the bench.

Kind Word.
Richmond Times-Dispatch: There is this to be said about the recent Chicago election: all the missionaries were taken out in safety under a protecting barrage.

Oh, Well—
Troy Times: If the women of Great Britain, about to be granted the general franchise, do not make any greater use of the ballot than American women the much-heralded benefits to politics through feminine influence are not likely to be realized.

Modern Miracles.
Syracuse Post-Standard: It is settled that television is both possible and practical. It will in the course of time, be adapted to our every-day uses. Again we see that the last of the miracles has not been wrought. The forces of nature are still awaiting command, and, as we learn that command, they will continually respond.

Helpful Tactics.
Springfield Republican: If it is true that the Republicans in the New York legislature have been instrumental in making Gov. Smith a national figure by opposing him on unwise issues, it may be due to a desire to even up that the Republicans in the Senate in Washington have lately been helping Senator Reed of Missouri, by giving him the opportunity to parade through the country their efforts to prevent him from uncovering more political corruption.

The New York Minute.
Baltimore Sun: Yale's world-round reunion by radio on Wednesday will show what New York is. The speech of President Angell at noon in New York, put on the air for loyal listeners wherever they may be, will reach Honolulu at 6 a. m. Wednesday and Tokyo at 2 a. m. Thursday. Twenty hours difference! A few brief minutes of time at New York thus become nearly a whole day when spread around the earth. If that doesn't prove the intensity of life in the metropolis, what does?

Thompson's Boat Ride.
Philadelphia Public Ledger: An Ohio river packet company says that William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, has hired an oil-burning steamboat and with 300 hand-picked friends will celebrate his recent victory with a $30,000 boat ride. From that Cairo in Illinois will be pronounced "Kay-roy" by the middle west "The Thompson Liberty Cruise" will proceed to New Orleans. There will be an orchestra, but there ought to be a steam calliope if Mayor Thompson wants to impress the levee loungers and the loafers at the landings and properly trumpet his fame across the sleepy banks of Arkansas, the Mississippi canyons and the cypress-shaded, bullfrog-haunted swamps of Louisiana. Somehow this one steam-phrase is being handled. More is heard about it in the West than in the East; but no word comes from the White House. There the silence concerning

The Iconoclast

By ROBERT QUILEN

EACH generation produces its iconoclast—its professional knocker, who uses scorn as a tool to get a living.

Once established as a public character, he is not free to praise or to speak gently. His public demands that he perform in his accustomed way, and he must meet the demand or lose his bread and butter.

Mankind has a hateful streak and enjoys denunciation much more than it enjoys praise. The man who does something conspicuously good is less interesting than the man who does something conspicuously evil. Gossip is enjoyable because it deals with man's faults, not his virtues. All the world lends an eager ear to scandal.

Since mortals are what they are, he who would earn his bread by knocking has only to acquire a vocabulary, select something to denounce, and set up shop.

He must, however, exercise some intelligence in selecting the things to scorn. There is no money in denouncing fashions, foreign policies, government waste or crime. People will listen for a little while and then grow weary of listening.

The one sure-fire hit is to denounce those who affect a superior virtue, for these are envied and therefore hated by the multitude.

The next best bet is to denounce religion, for this is practiced by the virtuous and accordingly hated by those who are conscious of being inferior in virtue.

If the professional iconoclast will hold to these subjects, his followers never will cease to cheer and never will cease to pay.

It seems an easy way to make a living, but it has one fault that few men can bear. It takes away liberty. The practitioner must do his same old stuff, over and over, without variation.

The iconoclast says of the preacher: "I have no respect for what he says, for he must say it to hold his job."

Alas! the same is true of the iconoclast. He is chained to his reputation. Each day he must think up a new way to say the same thing.

He must put on the show the crowd expects or tighten his belt when the dinner bell rings.

Anyway, the poor farmer can sit down to a good dinner without breaking a five-dollar bill.

Murder will out. And the self-made blonde is betrayed by an unspotted skin in freckle time.

Correct this sentence: "When a tooth of mine needs attention," said he, "I never postpone the ordeal."

calliopes. It does seem, however, a little thoughtless of the mayor to put so great a strain on the levees. Some of them are now at the breaking point.

Maybe That's Why.
Des Moines Register: Senator Borah is studying the Spanish language. And some folks can't quite make him out when he's talking English.

Our Town First.
Trenton State Gazette: An Indiana town has prohibited by municipal ordinance the display of pictures of bathing beauties and chorus girls on billboards, which will leave the town girls as the sole centers of attraction for the eyes of interested men.

"Third Term."
Philadelphia Public Ledger: There is supposed to be an aversion among American voters to a "third term" for a President. Dr. Butler, of Columbia, insists that because of it President Coolidge will not be a candidate next year. He believes the reelection of Calvin Coolidge would mean his election to a "third term." Not so Senator Fess, of Ohio, who admits that there is a precedent, but is sure that it is against a President serving for more than eight years. The Ohioan is very careful in his announcement that President Coolidge will or can break that precedent, not to use the words "third term." Evidently there is supposed to be some political dynamite in it, from the care with which that phrase is being handled. More is heard about it in the West than in the East; but no word comes from the White House. There the silence concerning

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Modern Horatio.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Will Senator Reed, of Missouri, the modern Horatio, now sheath his flaming sword and come down from the steps at the senatorial wing of the Capitol? He has played his part well, occupied much space on the front page, made himself solid with his party, and there exists no necessity for his longer posturing. Come down, Horatio!
R. P. C.

Where's the Fire Escape?
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What has become of Norris' lame duck session fire escape that was to lead us out of all our political troubles? I know that most of senatorial suggestions are like platform promises. They loom big until the night of election, and then the dimmer goes on, and by noon the next day no one will admit ever having heard of such a thing as platform promises. Senatorial suggestions and platform promises are twins. They die and no one goes to the funeral.
ATTABOY.

Seats for Saleswomen.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If Congress wants to do something for the benefit of a large and deserving class of wage earners in the District, why not enact the law now observed in several States, requiring those merchants and others who have a fixed number of women employees to provide stools behind the counters on which they can rest when not waiting on customers? Such a law is in the interest of humanity. Here the saleswomen go to their place of employment at 9 in the morning and have to stand on their feet until 6 in the afternoon. It is a terrible strain on the feet, and Washington, has hundreds of salesladies who are actually crippled. Here is an opportunity for Congress to do something really useful.
MRS. L. T. K.

Judges and Senators.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Reed, of Missouri, is now trying a case before Federal Judge Raymond at Detroit, Mich. All Federal judges are appointed by the President of the United States and with the advice of the Senate, of which Mr. Reed is a member, and of which he was a member when Judge Raymond's nomination was confirmed. Did Mr. Reed oppose Judge Raymond's nomination or did he not? If the former, what is the effect? And if the latter, what then? The effect, that is, in tendency at least. And, again, lower Federal judges are often elevated by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. In effect, Senators appoint just as really as the President. William Howard Taft, on leaving the Presidency, refused to appear in Federal courts by reason of his having appointed incumbents. To draw a complete parallel we would have to suggest that Mr. Taft should not only not have declined such employment, but should have accepted while in the Presidency. Just what should, in all nicety, be done to Judge Raymond and Senator Reed, of Missouri, a receptive candidate for the Presidency?
J. F. GITH.

'Twas Always Thus.
Jacksonville Times-Union: Woman was given the ballot, and she does not seem to care much about it. It has been estimated that only about 30 per cent of the women who are eligible have registered. Numbers who have registered do not vote. Man never has, and never will, thoroughly understand women. It is sure that he will not find out why she does not care to exercise her right to vote.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

THE President and Mrs. Coolidge had luncheon yesterday with Mr.
and Mrs. Cyrus H. K. Curtis on their yacht, the Lyndonia, anchored off Hains Point. The President, lodged will receive Commander Francesco de Pinedo, the Italian aviator, who is in Washington for a few days.

The Ambassador of Italy and Nobil Donna Antonietta de Martino entertained last evening at a dinner preceding the reception to the diplomatic corps, the army and navy, those in official circles and a few members of the resident society.

Those at the dinner were: The Secretary of War, Mr. Dwight Davis; Senator and Mrs. Claude B. Evanson, assistant Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. William P. MacCracker, Jr.; Maj.
Gen. and Mrs. Mason Patrick, the Secretary to the President and Mrs.
Saunders, the Vice President of the Geographic Society and Mrs. Ralph
Graves, Mrs. William Concoran Ruda,
Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Miss Pueyredon, Miss Padilla, Miss Helena Lodge, Miss Mildred Tytus, Miss Helen-or Wilson, Capt. del Prete, Mr. Luigi Barvini, Mr. Fracorelli, Brig. Gen.
Augusto Villa, Commander Alberto
Lais and Signora Lais, Commander Silvio Scaroni and Signor Leonardo Vi-telli, secretary of the embassy.

Mme. Jenny Sadoro gave a program of songs, Mr. Guarnaldi also sang.
Bourmannian organ orchestra played during the reception.

The German Ambassador and Baroness Maltzan departed yesterday afternoon for a trip through the Western States, and were accompanied by the secretary of the embassy, Herr Edward von Seizam.

The Ambassador of France, M. Paul Claudel, entertained at dinner Monday evening at the embassy in honor of Miss Helen Carus and her fiancé, Mel-E. Lombard, assistant military attaché of the French embassy. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Carus, Miss Madeline Cousins, Mrs. Helmann, Miss Claire Hellmann, Maj.
Pechkoff, the military attaché of the French embassy, Brig. Gen. George A.
L. Dumont, the financial attaché, Mr.
Robert Lacour-Gayet, the first secretary of the embassy, Mr. Jules Henry;
the second secretary, Mr. Frederic Knobel, and Mr. Henry Simon.

The Italian Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, will be the guest at the reception to be given in honor of Commander Francesco de Pinedo in the Florentine room at the Wardman Park hotel this afternoon.
by Commander Silvio Scaroni, air attache of the Italian embassy. Approximately 200 guests, representing the highest ranks of the army and navy, as well as the military and naval attaches of the foreign missions, have been invited to meet Commander de Pinedo.

Commander de Pinedo will be the guest in whose honor the board of the National Aeronautic association will entertain at luncheon in the patio
at the Carlton hotel on Friday.

Alfaro Give Dinner.

The Ambassador of Spain and Senora de Padilla and the Ambassador of Senora de Ferrara were the guests in whose honor the Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro entertained at dinner last evening at the Carlton.

varez de Buenavista, the military attache of the Spanish embassy, Maj. Vi-toriano Casasus, Brig. Gen. and Mrs.
Albert C. Dalton, Brig. Gen. and Mrs.
Chase W. Kennedy, Col. and Mrs.
Charles Drake, Maj. and Mrs. Parker
West, the Secretary of the Special Commission from Panama and Senora de Chevalier, and Mrs. Elton Tyner.
Mr. Louis Ramon Alfaro, attaché to the consulate of Panama in New York, who is a nephew of the Minister and Mme. Alfaro, arrived from New York yesterday to be with them for a short visit. Their niece, Miss Abigail Alfaro, who attends school in New York, also arrived to be with them over the Easter holidays.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Dwight
Davis, the Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Trubee Davison, the As-

"Auto Knits" are made of a special knit material that can be washed repeatedly—no ironing is necessary. They are not to be confused with old-style, misfitting, unsatisfactory seat covers that have to be dry cleaned, for with "Auto Knits" a trip to the laundry means a new-appearing upholstery. As new in idea are their colors—Scorpion Red, Dixie Rose, Kelly Green, Silver Gray and Mediterranean Blue—colors that either tone up a black-bodied car or harmonize with the bright-bodied car of today.

If you are the owner of a new car, you should protect its upholstery, or if you are the owner of an older car you should rejuvenate it with "Auto Knits." An inspection will convince you of their superiority, for with all their advantages they are very easily attached with fasteners that will not mar your upholstery.

A Demonstration --- The Construction of the Southland Automobile Battery

Beginning Wednesday a representative of the Southland Battery Company will explain the construction of the Southland storage battery from the raw material to the finished product and will tell of its proper care. He will use to demonstrate his lecture a display, made especially for us, and will distribute lead battery paper weights as souvenirs.

Southland Batteries are favorably known by Washington motorists and should you need one, we will be only too glad to supply it, as we have a size for every car, and they are extremely low priced. They are installed free of charge anywhere in the District of Columbia and are guaranteed for six months of satisfactory service.

"QUEEN SHENANDOAH'S" CORONATION APRIL 27

Dozen Bands Will Play During Climax of the Apple-Blossom Festival.

5,000 CHILDREN IN LINE

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 19.—Approximately 500 musicians in a dozen bands, under the direction of Lieut. Charles Benter, United States Navy band, Washington, will play for "Queen Shenandoah," Mrs. Kenneth N. Gilpin, after her coronation on the afternoon of the first day of the apple blossom festival here, April 27 and 28. The coronation ceremonies will take place on the Handley High school grounds at 5 p. m. it was announced today.

The festivities will begin at 10 a. m. with a parade of "human buds," 5,000 school children of Winchester and Frederick and Clarke counties, Va., and Brunswick, Md., and vicinity, headed by the United States Navy band. Later the children will participate in a great May pole dance. A concert, an hour later by the Navy band, will be followed by a band contest between military academies and high schools.

The crowning of the queen will take place at the foot of a broad stairway in front of the Handley school. The Glee club of Harrisonburg State Teachers' college, will sing as the queen approaches, escorted by the Monticello guards, Charlottesville, Va., in continental uniforms, and the cadet corps of Staunton Military academy.

In the queen's party will be 50 princesses from Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia, heralds, train bearers and flower girls. A fanfare of trumpets will signalize the placing of the royal diadem on her majesty's head.

$25,000 Is Subscribed For Salvation Army

The advisory board of the Salvation Army, headed by Rudolph Jose, will meet at 12:30 today in the Evangeline residence, 1320 L street northwest, to make plans for the three remaining days of the army's annual appeal for $70,000. Nearly $25,000 has been received to date.

Staff Capt. Ernest R. Holz, divisional commander of the army, will present to the board for approval the plans for the improvement of "Happyland," the army's fresh-air camp for mothers and children at Patuxent, Md. Ten thousand dollars will be spent in building at the camp. Contributions to the army's appeal should be sent to Salvation Army, 607 E street northwest.

Thief Takes $225 Rings.

Miss Louise C. Hutchins, 1332 Fifteenth street northwest, told police yesterday that her home had been entered by a thief who stole two rings valued at $225 and a small amount of cash.

FOR Acid Stomach
PHILLIPS' Milk
of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle
Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1876.

On the new high-speed articulated trains of the W. B. & A.
merely to discover what modern traveling comfort means

THESE new all-steel trains, which cost a half million dollars to build, are the first of their kind in use on any interurban electric railroad in the United States.

When you get aboard one of them, and sink into one of the richly upholstered and deeply cushioned chairs, you are about to experience the quickest, cleanest and most comfortable way that has yet been made possible to get from downtown Washington to downtown Baltimore.

There is no longer the slightest reason why you should risk the traffic congestion of the highways or the Baltimore parking problem. For the W. B. & A. is not only much quicker and much less expensive than your automobile, but it is vastly more comfortable.

Express trains leave both cities every 30 minutes on the hour and half hour. The full running time from downtown Washington to downtown Baltimore—on the W. B. & A.—is only 85 minutes. This is the quickest, the most direct and the most economical way to make the trip. Street car lines at the Baltimore Terminal will take you or transfer you to any part of the city or suburbs. Taxicab stands at terminals in both cities.

An
ALL-SUMMER VACATION

At this time of year our minds and, when possible, our bodies, are drawn by the instinct of our healthy animal nature to the World Without Walls—to the world of woods, of meadows and of bright water. Presently, as the days grow warmer and as the buds become blossoms and as fruit succeeds the flowers, the impulse will grow stronger and stronger until the walls of the workaday world are almost intolerable.

Aren't you thinking of vacation?—a month in the mountains?—ten days at the seashore? We think you can do much better than that. We think you can (without losing your job and without spending an extra dollar) spend a much longer time in a more enchanting place. Write for a free copy of our illustrated booklet, "An All-Summer Vacation."

INCORPORATION ISSUES
$1,400,000 GOLD BONDS

Proceeds Will Refund Mortgages and Provide Money for Improvement.

MARKET PRICES GAIN

By F. W. PATTERSON.
One of the largest local bond issues has been brought to market in several months. That of $1,400,000 Washington Arcade Co. first, closed, mortgage 6 1/2 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, which were offered by the Washington Arcade Co. and the Washington Trust Co. of the Riggs National Bank, trustee. The sinking fund of $50,000 per annum is payable semi-annually from April 1, 1928, up to and including April 1, 1932; thereafter $75,000 per annum maturity, so that there will be in the hands of the trustee at the time of the maturity of the bonds $1,425,000 of these bonds.

The proceeds from the sale of these bonds will be used to refund existing mortgages, to reimburse the company for improvements, and to provide funds for increasing the market capacity of the Arcade market, to install larger storage plant and to enlarge the second floor auditorium, so as to give it a seating capacity of 10,000.

The Washington Arcade Co., which was incorporated in 1926, has its headquarters at Fourteenth street and Park road, which is occupied by dealers in fruits, vegetables, meats and other food products, and also operates the amusement features which are to be found on the second floor. The demand for additional market space brought about by the strategic location of this popular neighborhood, and the necessity for improved facilities for indoor sports, was encouraged by the company to carry out enlargement plans.

The capitalization of the company is $1,400,000 first mortgage 6 1/2 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, now being offered; preferred stock, par value $100, authorized, $2,000,000; issued, $512,000; and 20,000 shares of par value common stock, of which 18,770 shares have been issued. Officers of the company are John S. B. Borden, president and general manager; William A. Rodenberger, president; C. Chester Caywood, secretary; and Harry M. Randall, treasurer. The board of directors consists of the officers and G. W. Fosberg, Dr. Malcolm G. Gibbs, John P. Morgan and J. Shulman.

Institute Meeting Tonight.
The spring meeting of Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, will be held tonight in the small ballroom of the Willard hotel. The feature of tonight's meeting will be the presentation of certificates to members of Washington chapter, who completed the courses in investments, accounting and banking fundamentals, and 139 students will be the honorees.

Stephen I. Miller, director of education in the national organization, will be the honor guest and will make the principal address and those who heard the national educator when he was here last year will welcome the opportunity of listening to him again.

T. Hutton Leth, president of Washington chapter, will preside; Howard Moran, president District Bankers association, and Mary V. Haynes, chairman of Washington Clearing House association, will represent their organizations, and will also be called upon to present the much coveted certificates.

Following the meeting there will be dancing with music furnished by Bornstein's orchestra and, of course, refreshments will be served in great detail hereafter be cared for by the women's committee of the chapter.

Guaranty Bonds Offered.
Public offering of the securities of the North American Title Guaranty Co. and the North American Security Corporation is being made in Washington for the first time today by the Standard Co., dealers in investment securities, fiscal agents of the offering companies.

The title co. is the first company of its kind to be organized in New York in years, and is under the supervision of the insurance department of the State. The business is that of searching and insuring titles of real estate and mortgages, and the company is carefully selected first mortgage investments, guaranteed as to principal and interest. The sphere of activity is national in scope, and they are now inaugurating their national campaign. Affiliated with the title co. is the North American Security Corporation, organized for the purpose of developing interrelated business.

Wade H. Cooper, president of the Continental Trust Co., and United States Savings Bank, is a member of the board of directors, and invitations to serve on the board have been accepted by Alfred H. Lawson, real estate officer, Washington Loan & Trust Co., and W. R. Rieley, president of Terminal Refrigerating & Warehouse Co. The two concerns are under the same management. Officers of the company are Senator Edward I. Edwards, chairman of the board First National Bank of Jersey City, who is chairman of the board of the title co. and Walter, formerly of the board of the Broadway National Bank and president of the National Bank of America; George C. Van Tyl, Jr., former bank commissioner State of New York, vice president; J. J. Whitman, former publisher, vice president; and John F. McCabe, member of the accounting firm of L. R. E. Baird & Dixon, secretary. The board of directors is composed of representative bankers in different parts of the country.

Booyant Day at Exchange.
Stocks were buoyant in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange, with most of the trading resulting in better than fractional advances.

While there was no heavy trading in the bank stocks, the dealings spread more of the list than has been out on the same day for some time. Liberty National advanced 1 1/2 points, to 207 1/2; American Security Trust sold at 38 1/2; Continental Trust Co. picked up 2 points on an odd lot sale at 110; Merchants Bank & Trust climbed 2 1/2 points, to 158; Union Trust sold in two lots at 27 1/2, with final sale of ten shares made at 27 1/2, and Washington Loan & Trust Co. sold in three small lots at 490 and 489 1/2. Columbia Title gained 1/2, to 10 1/2, on a single sale of 50 shares, and Real Estate Title sold at 50.

Washington Gas light led the utilities with opening sale of 100 shares at 73 and final sale at 73 1/2. Washington Railway & Electric common sold in a three-share transaction at 23 1/2 and picked up to 240 on movement of ten shares, while the preferred was unchanged at 92. Merchants Transfer & Storage common opened at 117 and closed at 115, a gain of 1/2 point over last preceding sale, while the preferred was firm at 100 1/2. National Mortgage & Investment preferred advanced 1/2, to 8 1/2. The bond division was fairly active, with prices firm.

Merger Plans Perfected.
The merger plans of the Mortgage Bond & Guaranty Corporation, which were approved by the stockholders last week and entailed a consolidation with the Mortgage Security Corporation of America, of Norfolk, Va., have been perfected, stockholders of both companies now having approved the recommendations of their boards of directors, and the new company will be known as the Mortgage Security Corporation of America. This consolidation will create the largest corporation of its kind in the country, the company having a capital and surplus in excess of $4,000,000 and resources of more than $40,000,000.

Earnings of the Mortgage Security Corporation for the past year were very satisfactory and the directors have voted a dividend of $1.50 per share on the common stock, payable to stockholders of record April 18. This makes a total of $5.50 per share in dividends paid to common shareholders during the last year. Regular dividends of 7 per cent per annum have been paid on the preferred stock since the inception of the company.

Stein Bros. & Boyce, investment bankers, of Baltimore and Washington, are fiscal agents for the company.

Essay Judges Chosen.

George W. White, president National Metropolitan Bank; Frank Stratton, trustee of National Savings & Trust Co., and Robert Stuntz, cashier, Park Savings Bank, were yesterday chosen judges of the annual essay contest of members of the Washington Trust Co. to be announced by Howard Frank, president. The essay contest, which is conducted each year, is open to members of the Washington Trust Co. and is held at the American Institute of Banking, and is eagerly looked forward to by the junior bankers, particularly as those submitting the three best papers are awarded a trip to the bankers' convention, which this year will be held June 9-12 at Hot Springs, Va.

Life Underwriter Chairman.
Washington insurance men who are chairmen of committees in connection with the joint congress of the Maryland and District Life Underwriters' association, whose sessions will begin tomorrow at the Wardman Park hotel, are George B. Farquhar and Frank R. Strunk, general chairmen; Russell B. Freeman, finance; John F. Cremen, registration; P. L. Rogers, transportation; H. L. Adams, publicity; Eugene Adams, banquet, and N. E. Ellsworth, music.

Tobacco Case Argued Before Supreme Court

(By the Associated Press.)

The Federal Trade Commission urged the Supreme Court yesterday in oral argument to enforce its order directing the American Tobacco Co. to desist from controlling prices in the Philadelphia territory through an alleged unlawful conspiracy with the Wholesale Tobacco & Cigar Dealers association of that city. Counsel for the commission insisted that the evidence was ample to sustain its charge that there was such a conspiracy.

Counsel for the American Tobacco Co., however, declared that the trial court should be sustained in its finding that the commission had failed to establish a conspiracy or agreement with the association for the control of prices. They further asserted that the association was dissolved in June, 1922, thus making the controversy moot and leaving no basis for the commission's order.

Triple Theft Aids Macks To Win

EDISTO EASY WINNER IN CONGRESSIONAL HANDICAP

Seagram Colt Beats Field Of Seven

Joy Smoke Is Second, Length and a Half Behind Victor.

The Code in Surprise Victory Rewards at 21 to 1.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, April 19.—Edisto, 5-year-old bay son of Cudgel or Sir Barton, Pennsylvania, and a stablemate of Sir Harry, winner of the Cofrotho handicap, carried the popular yellow and black silks of the Canadian-owned Seagram stable to a clever victory in the Congressional handicap, the program feature of this afternoon's racing at Havre de Grace.

Beaten off a length and one-half for the major portion of the race, came Edward F. Whitney's Joy Smoke, while the Islander's Marconi, F. Smith's Prickley Heat, P. Joyce's Harry Barker, H. Guy Bedwell's Cudgel and William Maher's Fly Hawk trailed the first pair in the finish in the order named.

The Congressional, which was at 1 mile and 70 yards, attracted a field of seven, with Marconi, the one most favored in the speculation, although Prickley Heat and Joy Smoke received quite a share in the closing minutes of the wagering.

With the rise of the webbing Jockey Emery sent Prickley Heat away in the motion and, favored with his light impost, the China Cock gelding opened up a commanding lead before the clubhouse turn was reached.

For some unaccountable reason, Emery began taking the Smith standard for a rack rounding the hairpin, and by the time the three-eighths pole was reached practically had them out of contention.

When Prickley Heat dropped back, Marconi went to the front with Cudgel forcing the issue. Joy Smoke was running well with himself third, despite his crushing impost of 126 pounds. The others by this time were well beaten off.

Cudgel was unable to withstand the stretch bid of Joy Smoke, but had enough left to hold the others safe. Joy Smoke made an effort to draw somewhere close to the winner in the last sixteenth, but found the task too exacting.

The Everglade purse, 6-furlong sprint for 3-year-olds, and the secondary feature, resulted in a rather hollow score for the McLean stable's derby candidate, Jack.

The son of Colin took the track soon after the break and led every foot to the winning post. Pilotta proved best of the others, while Candy Pig was third.

Clark, third, was unable to withstand the stretch bid of Joy Smoke, but had enough left to hold the others safe. Joy Smoke made an effort to draw somewhere close to the winner in the last sixteenth, but found the task too exacting.

The field ran well bunched to the stretch, where Netta Run came with a rush and taking command in last sixteenth won by three lengths. Turkey's Neck beat Gladys Clark a nose for the place.

The H. P. Whitney and L. S. Thompson entry, Glee and Tum On, were withdrawn to respect the death of Belmont Rowe, son of James Rowe, the Whitney trainer.

A. J. Sullivan's The Code sprung a surprise when he defeated a fair field of platers in the second event, a 6-furlong dash for 3-year-olds. He paid $44. Sucky, favorite, was second and Way Fair third. Sucky was probably much the best, but Workman, who had the mount, took the filly wide on the way, and she was only beaten by a nose in the final stride.

Whizzing Cloud and Way Fair were the early pacemakers, but in the stretch Sucky took the lead, and The Code, which had saved many lengths by hugging the rail on stretch, closed gamely and won by a nose. A head separated second and third.

J. E. Griffith's Canter had no difficulty in annexing the purse of the fifth race gallop over the 11-16-mile route. He led from start to finish and won by a length and a half. Greiner was second by five lengths over Edward Gray.

Flagship, a son of Man o' War, was the early leader in the 6-furlong race for 3-year-olds. He paid $3.50. Sucky, favorite, was second and Way Fair third. Sucky was probably much the best, but Workman, who had the mount, took the filly wide on the way, and she was only beaten by a nose in the final stride.
